Statements in this benchbook represent the professional judgment of the author and are not intended to be authoritative statements by the justices of the Michigan Supreme Court. In 2018, this benchbook was revised and retitled Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 3 based on material that was initially published in the Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 2. The text has been revised, reordered, and updated through September 18, 2019.

Note on Precedential Value

“A panel of the Court of Appeals must follow the rule of law established by a prior published decision of the Court of Appeals issued on or after November 1, 1990, that has not been reversed or modified by the Supreme Court, or by a special panel of the Court of Appeals as provided in this court rule.” MCR 7.215\(J\)\(1\).

Several cases in this book have been reversed or overruled in part and/or to the extent that they contained a specific holding on one issue or another. Generally, trial courts are bound by decisions of the Court of Appeals “until another panel of the Court of Appeals or [the Supreme] Court rules otherwise[.]” In re Hague, 412 Mich 532, 552 (1982). While a case that has been fully reversed or overruled is no longer binding precedent, it is less clear when an opinion is not reversed or overruled in its entirety. Some cases state that “an overruled proposition in a case is no reason to ignore all other holdings in the case.” People v Carson, 220 Mich App 662, 672 (1996). See also Stein v Home-Owners Ins Co, 303 Mich App 382, 389 (2013) (distinguishing between reversals in their entirety and reversals in part). But see Dunn v Detroit Inter-Ins Exch, 254 Mich App 256, 262 (2002), citing MCR 7.215\(J\)\(1\) and stating that “a prior Court of Appeals decision that has been reversed on other grounds has no precedential value. . . . [W]here the Supreme Court reverses a Court of Appeals decision on one issue and does not specifically address a second issue in the case, no rule of law remains from the Court of Appeals decision.” See also People v James (Joel), 326 Mich App 98 (2018) (citing Dunn and MCR 7.215\(J\)\(1\) and stating that the decision, “People v Crear, 242 Mich App 158, 165-166 (2000), overruled in part on other grounds by People v Miller, 482 Mich 540 (2008), . . . [was] not binding”). Note that Stein specifically distinguished its holding from the Dunn holding because the precedent discussed in Dunn involved a reversal in its entirety while the precedent discussed in Stein involved a reversal in part.

The Michigan Judicial Institute endeavors to present accurate, binding precedent when discussing substantive legal issues. Because it is unclear how subsequent case history may affect the precedential value of a particular opinion, trial courts should proceed with caution when relying on cases that have negative subsequent history. The analysis presented in a case that is not binding may still be persuasive. See generally, Dunn, 254 Mich App at 264-266.

Acknowledgments

The Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Volume 3, is part of a three-volume set. The Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Volume 1, concerns pretrial and trial matters, the Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Volume 2, concerns sentencing, and the Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Volume 3 concerns posttrial matters.

This revised edition of the Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Volume 3, was authored by MJI Research Attorneys Lisa Schmitz and Kimberly Muschong and was edited by MJI Publications Manager Sarah Roth. The authors of this edition were greatly assisted by an editorial advisory committee whose members reviewed draft text and provided valuable feedback. The members of the editorial advisory committee were:

- Brett DeGroff, State Appellate Defender Office, Assistant Defender
- The Honorable John H. Hallacy, 37th Circuit Court, Calhoun County
- The Honorable Hala Y. Jarbou, 6th Circuit Court, Oakland County
- Anica Letica, Michigan Attorney General’s Office, First Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Appellate Division
- The Honorable Sarah S. Lincoln, 37th Circuit Court, Calhoun County
- The Honorable Gerald M. Prill, 52nd Circuit Court, Huron County

The Criminal Proceedings Benchbooks, Volumes 1, 2, and 3, derive from the former MJI Circuit Court Benchbook: Criminal Proceedings and MJI Criminal Procedure Monograph Series. The information from those publications has been combined and reorganized to better serve MJI’s core audience.

The MJI Michigan Circuit Court Benchbook was originally authored by Judge J. Richardson Johnson, 9th Circuit Court. In 2009, the Michigan Circuit Court Benchbook was revised and broken into three volumes: Circuit Court Benchbook: Civil Proceedings—Revised Edition; Circuit Court Benchbook: Criminal Proceedings—Revised Edition; and Evidence Benchbook. The three volumes were revised by MJI Research Attorneys Sarah Roth and Lisa Schmitz.

The MJI Criminal Procedure Monograph series formerly contained the following titles:

- Monograph 1: Issuance of Complaints & Arrest Warrants—Fourth Edition
- Monograph 2: Issuance of Search Warrants—Fourth Edition
- Monograph 3: Misdemeanor Arraignments & Pleas—Third Edition
- Monograph 4: Felony Arraignments & Pleas—Third Edition
- Monograph 5: Preliminary Examinations—Third Edition
- Monograph 6: Pretrial Motions—Third Edition
- Monograph 7: Probation Revocation—Fourth Edition
- Monograph 8: Felony Sentencing—Revised Edition
- Monograph 9: Postconviction Proceedings

Former MJI Criminal Procedure Monographs 1-7 were originally authored in 1992 by MJI staff members Leonhard J. Kowalski, Dawn F. McCarty, and Margaret Vroman. The 1992 edition was funded in part by a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Subsequent editions of these monographs were revised by MJI Research Attorneys with the assistance of an editorial advisory committee.

Former MJI Criminal Procedure Monograph 8 was originally authored by former MJI Publications Manager Phoenix Hummel. Ms. Hummel and MJI Research Attorney Lisa Schmitz contributed to the revised edition and were assisted by an editorial advisory committee. MJI Publications Manager Sarah Roth served as editor.

Former MJI Criminal Procedure Monograph 9 was originally authored by MJI Research Attorney Lisa Schmitz. Former MJI Publication Manager, Phoenix Hummel, served as editor. In addition, Ms. Schmitz was assisted by an editorial advisory committee.

Using This Benchbook

This benchbook is intended for Michigan judges who handle criminal cases. The purpose of this benchbook is to provide a single source to address issues that may arise while the judge is on the bench. The benchbook is designed to be a quick reference, not an academic discussion. In that context, one of the most difficult challenges is organizing the text so that the user can readily find any topic as it arises.

This book has underlying themes that may assist the user to understand the overarching concepts around which the book is organized. This book is based upon the following concepts:

- The focus is on process rather than substantive law although substantive law is discussed when important or necessary to decision-making and the process as a whole.
- The text covers the routine issues that a judge may face and non-routine issues that require particular care when they arise.
- The text is intended to include the authority the judge needs to have at his or her fingertips to make a decision.
- The text is designed to be read aloud or incorporated in a written decision.
- The text attempts to identify whether the court's decision is discretionary.

With these concepts in mind, the text is organized as follows:

- The format generally follows the sequence of the Michigan Court Rules and the Michigan Rules of Evidence.
- The format generally follows the typical sequence in which issues arise during the course of a case.
- At the beginning of each chapter is a table of contents that lists what is covered in the chapter.
- Sections in each chapter are identified by the word or phrase typically used to identify the topic (a keyword concept).

- The discussion of each topic is designed to move from the general to the specific without undue elaboration.
- If the court is required to consider particular factors when making a decision, every effort has been made to identify the necessary elements.
- Every effort has been made to cite the relevant Michigan law using either the seminal case or the best current authority for a body of law. United States Supreme Court decisions are cited when Michigan courts are bound by that authority and they are the original source. There are references to federal decisions or decisions from other states when no applicable Michigan authority could be located.
- Every effort has been made to cite the source for each statement. If no authority is cited for a proposition, then the statement is the committee's opinion.
- If a proceeding or rule of evidence is based upon a statute, reference to that authority is given in the text.

The Michigan Judicial Institute (MJl) was created in 1977 by the Michigan Supreme Court. Part A: Procedural Issues

1.2 Limitations on Authority of Lower Court or Tribunal

“[A] trial court may not normally set aside or amend a judgment or order appealed from except under limited circumstances[.]” People v Martin, 271 Mich App 280, 331 (2006).

“After a claim of appeal is filed or leave to appeal is granted, the trial court or tribunal may not set aside or amend the judgment or order appealed from except

- (1) by order of the Court of Appeals,
- (2) by stipulation of the parties,
- (3) after a decision on the merits in an action in which a preliminary injunction was granted, or
- (4) as otherwise provided by law.” MCR 7.208\(A\).

“In a criminal case, the filing of the claim of appeal does not preclude the trial court from granting a timely motion under [\[MCR 7.208\(B\)¹\]](#).” MCR 7.208\(A\).

1.3 Postjudgment Motions in Criminal Cases

“No later than 56 days after the commencement of the time for filing the defendant-appellant’s brief as provided by MCR 7.212\(A\)\(1\)\(a\)\(iii\), the defendant may file in the trial court a motion for a new trial, for judgment of acquittal, to withdraw a plea, or to correct an invalid sentence.” MCR 7.208\(B\)\(1\). See People v LaPlaunt, 217 Mich App 733, 736 (1996) (“[u]nder MCR 7.208\(B\), defendant had only fifty-six days after the time for the filing of his appellate brief commenced . . . to file his motion for a new trial”).

“A copy of the motion must be filed with the Court of Appeals and served on the prosecuting attorney.” MCR 7.208\(B\)\(2\).

“The trial court shall hear and decide the motion within 28 days of filing, unless the court determines that an adjournment is necessary to secure evidence needed for the decision on the motion or that there is other good cause for an adjournment.” MCR 7.208\(B\)\(3\). In many cases, securing “evidence needed for the decision” necessitates an evidentiary hearing. See People v Ginther, 390 Mich 436 (1963); People v Cress, 468 Mich 678 (2003); People v Chenault, 495 Mich 142 (2014). See also, generally, People v Franklin, 500 Mich 92, 109 (2017) (noting that although trial courts generally “possess reasonable discretion regarding whether to hold hearings concerning the range of motions that typically come before them,” there are instances “in which trial courts are obligated to hold evidentiary hearings”).

“Within 28 days of the trial court’s decision, the court reporter or recorder must file with the trial court clerk the transcript of any hearing held.” MCR 7.208\(B\)\(4\).

“If the motion is granted in whole or in part,

(a) the defendant must file the appellant’s brief or a notice of withdrawal of the appeal within 42 days after the trial court’s decision or after the filing of the transcript of any hearing held, whichever is later;

(b) the prosecuting attorney may file a cross appeal in the manner provided by MCR 7.207 within 21 days after the trial court’s decision. If the defendant has withdrawn the appeal before the prosecuting attorney has filed a cross appeal, the prosecuting attorney may file a claim of appeal or an application for leave to appeal within the 21-day period.” MCR 7.208\(B\)\(5\).

¹See Section 1.3 for more information on MCR 7.208\(B\).

“If the motion is denied, defendant-appellant’s brief must be filed within 42 days after the decision by the trial court, or the filing of the transcript of any trial court hearing, whichever is later.” MCR 7.208\(B\)\(6\).

1.4 Appointment of Appellate Lawyer

A. Required Advice

After imposing a sentence in a case involving a conviction following a trial, the trial court must immediately inform the defendant on the record that the defendant is entitled to appellate review of the conviction and sentence and that a lawyer will be appointed if the defendant cannot afford one. MCR 6.425\(F\)\(1\)\(a\)-\(b\). Similarly, in a case involving a conviction following a plea of guilty or nolo contendere the trial court must inform the defendant immediately after sentencing that he or she is entitled to file an application for leave to appeal and that a lawyer will be appointed if the defendant cannot afford one. MCR 6.425\(F\)\(2\)\(a\)-\(b\).² The defendant must file a request for an attorney within 42 days after sentencing. MCR 6.425\(F\)\(1\)\(c\); MCR 6.425\(F\)\(2\)\(c\).³ “The court also must give the defendant a request for counsel form containing an instruction informing the defendant that the form must be completed and filed within 42 days after sentencing if the defendant wants the court to appoint a lawyer. The court must give the defendant an opportunity to tender a completed request for counsel form at sentencing if the defendant wishes to do so.” MCR 6.425\(F\)\(3\).

B. Appointment of Appellate Lawyer

MCR 6.425\(G\)\(1\) governs the appointment of an appellate lawyer and the preparation of transcripts:

“(a) All requests for the appointment of appellate counsel must be granted or denied on forms approved by the State Court Administrative Office and provided by MAACS.^[4]

(b) Within 7 days after receiving a defendant’s request for a lawyer, or within 7 days after the disposition of a postjudgment motion if one is filed, the trial court must submit the request, the judgment of sentence, the ²See the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook Vol. 1, Section 6.28 for a discussion of guilty plea appeals.

⁴MAACS is an acronym for the Michigan Appellate Assigned Counsel System.

register of actions, and any additional requested information to MAACS under procedures approved by the Appellate Defender Commission for the preparation of an appropriate order granting or denying the request. The court must notify MAACS if it intends to deny the request for counsel.

(c) Within 7 days after receiving a request and related information from the trial court, MAACS must provide the court with a proposed order appointing appellate counsel or denying the appointment of appellate counsel. A proposed appointment order must name the State Appellate Defender Office (SADO) or an approved private attorney who is willing to accept an appointment for the appeal.

(d) Within 7 days after receiving a proposed order from MAACS, the trial court must rule on the request for a lawyer. If the defendant is indigent, the court must enter an order appointing a lawyer if the request for a lawyer is filed within 42 days after entry of the judgment of sentence or, if applicable, within the time for filing an appeal of right. The court should liberally grant an untimely request as long as the defendant may file an application for leave to appeal. A denial of counsel must include a statement of reasons.

(e) In a case involving a conviction following a trial, if the defendant's request for a lawyer was filed within the time for filing a claim of appeal, the order must be entered on an approved form entitled 'Claim of Appeal and Appointment of Counsel.'⁵ Entry of the order by the trial court pursuant to this subrule constitutes a timely filed claim of appeal for the purposes of MCR 7.204.

(f) An appointment order must direct the court reporter to prepare and file, within the time limits specified in MCR 7.210, the full transcript of all proceedings, and provide for the payment of the reporter's fees.

(g) The trial court must serve MAACS with a copy of its order granting or denying a request for a lawyer. Unless MAACS has agreed to provide the order to any of the following, the trial court must also serve a copy of its order on the defendant, defense counsel, the prosecutor, and, if the order includes transcripts, the court reporter(s)/recorder(s). If the order is in the form of a Claim of Appeal and Appointment of Counsel, the court must also serve the Court of Appeals with a copy of the order and the judgment being appealed.”

C. Scope of Appellate Lawyer’s Responsibilities

“The responsibilities of the appellate lawyer appointed to represent the defendant include representing the defendant

- (a) in available postconviction proceedings in the trial court the lawyer deems appropriate,
- (b) in postconviction proceedings in the Court of Appeals,
- (c) in available proceedings in the trial court the lawyer deems appropriate under MCR 7.208\(B\) or [\[MCR\] 7.211\(C\)\(1\)](#), and
- (d) as appellee in relation to any postconviction appeal taken by the prosecutor.” MCR 6.425\(G\)\(2\).

Part B: Substantive Issues

1.5 Motion for New Trial

In addition to the following discussion, see the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Motion for New Trial Checklist.

A. Time for Making Motion

“A motion for a new trial may be filed before the filing of a timely claim of appeal.” MCR 6.431\(A\)\(1\).

“If a claim of appeal has been filed, a motion for a new trial may only be filed in accordance with the procedure set forth in MCR 7.208\(B\)^[6] or the remand procedure set forth in MCR 7.211\(C\)\(1\)^[7].” MCR 6.431\(A\)\(2\). See People v LaPlaunt, 217 Mich App 733, 735-736 (1996) (“[w]here a claim of appeal has been filed, MCR 6.431\(A\)\(2\) governs a criminal defendant’s motion for a new trial”).

⁶See Section 1.3 for more information on MCR 7.208\(B\).

⁷See MCR 7.211\(C\)\(1\) for more information on motions to remand in the Court of Appeals.

“If the defendant may only appeal by leave or fails to file a timely claim of appeal, a motion for a new trial may be filed:

(a) within 6 months of entry of the judgment of conviction and sentence, or

(b) [i]f 6 months have elapsed since entry of the judgment of conviction and sentence, the defendant may file a motion for new trial if:

(i) the defendant has filed a request for the appointment of counsel pursuant to MCR 6.425\(G\)\(1\) within the 6-month period,

(ii) the defendant or defendant’s lawyer, if one is appointed, has ordered the appropriate transcripts within 28 days of service of the order granting or denying the request for counsel or substitute counsel, unless the transcript has already been filed or has been ordered by the court under MCR 6.425\(G\), and

(iii) the motion for a new trial is filed in accordance with the provisions of this subrule within 42 days after the filing of the transcript. If the transcript was filed before the order appointing counsel or substitute counsel, or the order denying the appointment of counsel, the 42-day period runs from the date of that order.” MCR 6.431\(A\)\(3\).

“If the defendant is no longer entitled to appeal by right or by leave, the defendant may seek relief pursuant to the procedure set forth in [MCR 6.500 et seq⁸].” MCR 6.431\(A\)\(4\).

For pleas accepted on or after September 1, 2018, if the motion is received after the expiration of the periods set forth in MCR 6.431\(A\)\(1\)-\(3\), and the defendant has submitted the motion as a pro se party and is an inmate in the custody of the Michigan Department of Corrections or housed in a federal or other state’s penal institution, “the motion shall be deemed presented for filing on the date of deposit of the motion in the outgoing mail at the correctional institution in which the inmate is housed.” MCR 6.431\(A\)\(5\). Timely filing may be shown by a sworn statement filed with the motion setting forth the date of deposit and stating that first-class postage has been prepaid. Id.

⁸See Chapter 3 for more information on motions for relief from judgment under MCR 6.500 et seq.

B. Reasons for Granting

“No . . . new trial [shall] be granted by any court of this state in any criminal case, on the ground of misdirection of the jury, or the improper admission or rejection of evidence, or for error as to any matter of pleading or procedure, unless in the opinion of the court, after an examination of the entire cause, it shall affirmatively appear that the error complained of has resulted in a miscarriage of justice.” MCL 769.26. See also MCR 6.431\(B\) (“On the defendant’s motion, the court may order a new trial on any ground that would support appellate reversal of the conviction or because it believes that the verdict has resulted in a miscarriage of justice.”);⁹ People v Terrell, 289 Mich App 553, 559 (2010). “MCR 6.431\(B\) allows the trial court to order a new trial in a criminal case only when a motion has been brought by the defendant.” People v Torres, 222 Mich App 411, 415 (1997). “The court must state its reasons for granting or denying a new trial orally on the record or in a written ruling made a part of the record.” MCR 6.431\(B\).

MCL 769.26 “creates a presumption that preserved, nonconstitutional error is harmless, which presumption may be rebutted by a showing that the error resulted in a miscarriage of justice.” People v Lukity, 460 Mich 484, 493 (1999). The statute does not apply to preserved, constitutional error. Id. at 495 n 3. “[MCL 769.26] presumes that a preserved, nonconstitutional error is not a ground for reversal unless ‘after an examination of the entire cause, it shall affirmatively appear’ that it is more probable than not that the error was outcome determinative.” Lukity, 460 Mich at 495-496. “[T]he appropriate inquiry ‘focuses on the nature of the error and assesses its effect in light of the weight and strength of the untainted evidence.’” Id. at 495, quoting People v Mateo, 453 Mich 203, 215 (1996). See People v Snyder, 462 Mich 38, 45-46 (2000) (the conclusion that “exclusion of . . . impeachment evidence was error” “[wa]s based upon ‘an examination of the entire cause,’ as required by MCL 769.26[;]” “[t]herefore, [] the evidentiary error . . . was not harmless under the Lukity standard for assessing preserved, nonconstitutional error” and remand for a new trial was warranted).

⁹See also MCL 770.1, which states that “[t]he judge or a court in which the trial of an offense is held may grant a new trial to the defendant, for any cause for which by law a new trial may be granted, or when it appears to the court that justice has not been done, and on the terms or conditions as the court directs.” MCL 770.1 “previously provided the standards for governing motions for new trials in criminal cases[;] [h]owever, with the adoption of MCR 6.431, the statutory standards have been superseded.” People v McEwan, 214 Mich App 690, 693 n 1 (1995).

C. Trial Without Jury

“If the court tried the case without a jury, it may, on granting a new trial and with the defendant’s consent, vacate any judgment it has entered, take additional testimony, amend its findings of fact and conclusions of law, and order the entry of a new judgment.” MCR 6.431(C). The language of MCR 6.431(C) has been “construe[d] . . . to mean that where a defendant has been convicted in a bench trial, after the defendant’s motion for a new trial has been granted and if the defendant consents, the trial court may take additional testimony instead of commencing another trial from the beginning.” People v McEwan, 214 Mich App 690, 694-695 (1995).

D. Inclusion of Motion for Judgment of Acquittal

“The court must consider a motion for a new trial challenging the weight or sufficiency of the evidence as including a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.” MCR 6.431(D).¹⁰

“When making findings pursuant to [MCR 6.431] the trial court should clearly distinguish on the record and in its order its disposition of the two motions [(motion for new trial and motion for directed verdict of acquittal)].” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.431.¹¹

See Order Vacating Conviction and Entering New Disposition, CC 387.

E. Standard of Review

Appellate courts “review for an abuse of discretion a trial court’s decision to grant or deny a new trial.” People v Terrell, 289 Mich App 553, 558 (2010). “An abuse of discretion occurs when the trial court’s decision is outside the range of principled outcomes.” Id. at 559. “Underlying questions of law are reviewed de novo, while a trial court’s factual findings are reviewed for clear error[.]” Id. (citations omitted).

F. Grounds for a New Trial

The following subsections address several common grounds on which a motion for a new trial may be based. For discussion of additional substantive bases for new trial motions, such as double jeopardy violations and prosecutorial error, see the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 1.

¹⁰See Section 1.6 for more information on Motion for Judgment of Acquittal (Directed Verdict).

¹¹ “[A] staff comment to the Michigan Court Rules is not binding authority.” People v Williams (Carletus), 483 Mich 226, 238 n 15 (2009).

1. Newly Discovered Evidence

“For a new trial to be granted on the basis of newly discovered evidence, a defendant must show that: (1) ‘the evidence itself, not merely its materiality, was newly discovered’; (2) ‘the newly discovered evidence was not cumulative’; (3) ‘the party could not, using reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced the evidence at trial’; and (4) the new evidence makes a different result probable on retrial.” People v Cress, 468 Mich 678, 692 (2003), quoting People v Johnson (Johnnie), 451 Mich 115, 118 n 6 (1996). “[T]he defendant carries the burden of making the requisite showing regarding each of the four parts of the Cress test.” People v Rao, 491 Mich 271, 274 (2012).

Third prong of Cress test. “[U]nder Cress, when a defendant is aware of evidence before trial, he or she is charged with the burden of using reasonable diligence to make that evidence available and produce it at trial[;] [a] defendant who fails to do so cannot satisfy the first and third parts of the Cress test.” Rao, 491 Mich at 283. “When evidence is known to the defendant at the time of trial, but is claimed to have been unavailable, the third part of the Cress test is necessarily implicated because it requires a showing that the defendant ‘could not, using reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced the evidence at trial[.]’” Id., quoting Cress, 468 Mich at 692. “[W]hat constitutes reasonable diligence in producing evidence at trial depends on the circumstances of the case.” Rao, 491 Mich at 283-284. “[T]he law affords a defendant procedural avenues to secure and produce evidence and, under Cress, a defendant must employ these avenues in a timely manner because evidence that is known to the defendant, yet not produced until after trial, will not be considered grounds for a new trial.” Id. at 284.

Fourth prong of Cress test. “In order to determine whether newly discovered evidence makes a different result probable on retrial, a trial court must first determine whether the evidence is credible,” and “[i]n making this assessment, the trial court should consider all relevant factors tending to either bolster or diminish the veracity of the witness’s testimony.” People v Johnson (Justly), 502 Mich 541, 566-567 (2018). “A trial court’s function is limited when reviewing newly discovered evidence, as it is not the ultimate fact-finder; should a trial court grant a motion for relief from judgment, the case would be remanded for retrial, not dismissal.” Id. at 567. “In other words, a trial court’s credibility determination is concerned with whether a reasonable juror could find the testimony credible on retrial.” Id. at 567 (holding defendants are entitled to a new trial where the trial court focused only on the “questionable aspects” of the newly-discovered testimony and failed to acknowledge the “reliable aspects” and when the testimony is considered “in its entirety,” “a reasonable juror could find [the witness’s] testimony worthy of belief on retrial”). A trial court may not conclude that a witness is not credible solely because of the witness’s criminal history. People v Corley, ___ Mich ___, ___ (2019) (remanding for a new trial where “[t]he prosecution’s evidence was not overwhelming, and the new [disinterested] witness’s testimony would have undermined that evidence significantly”).

Codefendant’s testimony. “[W]hen a defendant knew or should have known that a codefendant could provide exculpatory testimony, but did not obtain that testimony because the codefendant invoked the privilege against self-incrimination, the codefendant’s posttrial statements do not constitute newly discovered evidence, but are merely newly available evidence.” People v Terrell, 289 Mich App 553, 555 (2010) (emphasis added). There still exists “the possibility that a codefendant’s posttrial or postconviction exculpatory statements might qualify as newly discovered evidence under MCR 6.431\(B\).” Terrell, 289 Mich App at 570. However, where a “defendant knew or should have known that his codefendant could offer material testimony about defendant’s role in the charged crime, his [or her] inability or unwillingness to procure that testimony before or during trial should not be redressed by granting . . . a new trial.” Id.

False confession. “A false confession (i.e., one that does not coincide with established facts) will not warrant a new trial, and it is within the trial court’s discretion to determine the credibility of the confessor.” Cress, 468 Mich at 692.

Perjured testimony. “The discovery that testimony introduced at trial was perjured may be grounds for a new trial.” People v Mechura, 205 Mich App 481, 483 (1994).

Recanting testimony. “[W]here newly discovered evidence takes the form of recantation testimony, it is traditionally regarded as suspect and untrustworthy[,] . . . [and] Michigan courts have expressed reluctance to grant new trials on the basis of recanting testimony.” People v Canter, 197 Mich App 550, 559-560 (1992).

Impeachment evidence. “[I]mpeachment evidence may be grounds for a new trial if it satisfies the four-part test set forth in [Cress, 468 Mich at 692; however,] . . . a material, exculpatory connection must exist between the newly discovered evidence and significantly important evidence presented at trial[, and] . . . the evidence must make a different result probable on retrial.” People v Grissom, 492 Mich 296, 299-300 (2012). Further, counsel must still be reasonably diligent in securing the evidence before trial. People v Armstrong (Parys), 305 Mich App 230, 241-243 (2014) (the trial court properly denied the defendant’s motion for a new trial where “defense counsel waited until the evening before trial to search for newly discovered impeachment witnesses[;]” had “defense counsel more actively attempted to secure impeachment witnesses, he could have discovered the witnesses in time for . . . trial”).

2. In the Interest of Justice

a. Instructional Error

“Jury instructions must include all the elements of the offenses charged against the defendant and any material issues, defenses, and theories that are supported by the evidence.” People v Dobek, 274 Mich App 58, 82 (2007). “Jury instructions are reviewed in their entirety, and there is no error requiring reversal if the instructions sufficiently protected the rights of the defendant and fairly presented the triable issues to the jury.” Id.

“[A] jury instruction that improperly omits an element of a crime amounts to constitutional error.” People v Kowalski, 489 Mich 488, 503 (2011). However, “[w]hen defense counsel clearly expresses satisfaction with a trial court’s [jury instructions], counsel’s action will be deemed to constitute a waiver.” Id. “[J]ury instructions that [are] somewhat deficient may nonetheless, when viewed as a whole, . . . suffice[] to protect a defendant’s rights when the jury would have convicted the defendant on the basis of the evidence regardless of the instructional error.” Id. at 506. “If the evidence related to the missing element was overwhelming and uncontested, it cannot be said that the error affected the defendant’s substantial rights or otherwise undermined the outcome of the proceedings.” Id. See also People v Oros, 320 Mich App 146, 163 (2017), rev’d in part on other grounds 502 Mich 229 (2018)¹² (“[g]iven th[e] standard [set out in Kowalski, 489 Mich at 506], [the Court of Appeals] reviewed the record . . . to determine whether the evidence related to larceny from a person [as the predicate offense for felony-murder] was ‘overwhelming and uncontested,’ and whether the erroneous instruction [(false pretenses as the predicate offense for felony-murder)] adequately served to protect defendant's rights [and] concluded that [the] circumstances [fell] well short of that demanding standard").

Failure to give a requested jury instruction constitutes "[e]rror requiring reversal[] . . . when the error is outcome determinative, meaning the error undermined the reliability of the jury verdict." People v Mitchell (Bradford), 301 Mich App 282, 288-289 (2013) (the defendant was entitled to a new trial where trial court's failure to give a requested instruction on a lesser included offense constituted error requiring reversal because an inquiry sent by the jury during deliberations "strongly suggest[ed] that it wanted to consider, and likely would have convicted defendant of, a lesser charge"). Cf. People v Lyles, 501 Mich 107, 112 (2017) ("[i]n defendant's trial for first-degree murder, the trial court improperly denied defendant's request for an instruction informing the jury that his evidence of good character could create a reasonable doubt[;]" however, "[d]efendant [did] not show[] that it [wa]s more likely than not that the outcome would have been different if the jury had been given th[e] instruction" and "reinstate[ment] [of the] defendant's conviction" was warranted).

b. Juror Misconduct

"Before [an appellate court] will order a new trial on the ground of juror misconduct, some showing must be made that the misconduct affirmatively prejudiced the defendant's right to a trial before a fair and impartial jury." People v Fox (After Remand), 232 Mich App 541, 557 (1998).

"[M]isconduct on the part of a juror will not automatically warrant a new trial[;] [a] new trial will not be granted for misconduct unless it affects the impartiality of the jury." People v Strand, 213 Mich App 100, 103-104 (1995) (citations omitted) (trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying the defendant's motion for a new trial where two jurors admitted learning that the defendant had a prior sexual assault conviction, but indicated that it did not affect the impartiality of their verdicts and that they did not disclose the information to the other jurors).

To establish that an extrinsic influence is error requiring reversal, the defendant must prove: (1) that the jury was exposed to an extraneous influence, and (2) that the extraneous influence created a real and substantial possibility that it could have affected the jury's verdict. People v Budzyn, 456 Mich 77, 80-81, 88-89 (1997) (defendant entitled to a new trial where the extrinsic influences of a movie and media reports were not harmless beyond a reasonable doubt). Cf. People v Stokes, 312 Mich App 181, 186, 189 (2015) (defendant not entitled to a new trial where a juror "attempted to recreate the crime scene[,] because "the experiment did not amount to an extraneous influence" where the juror "did not share the results of the experiment with any other juror").

"Generally speaking, information is deemed "extraneous" if it derives from a source "external" to the jury[;] "[e]xternal" matters include publicity and information related specifically to the case the jurors are meant to decide, while "internal" matters include the general body of experiences that jurors are understood to bring with them to the jury room." People v Garay, 320 Mich App 29, 41 (2017), quoting Warger v Shauers, 574 US ___, ___ (2017) (the "defendant [did] not establish that the jury was subject to any extraneous influence through the use of cell phones" where one juror "used his cell phone for text messaging, and he had no personal knowledge for what purposes the other jurors used their cell phones[;]" additionally, the "[d]efendant [did] not establish that the jury was subject to an extraneous influence through [a different] juror" where the juror's "statements [to the other jurors] regarding [a police officer that testified in the case] were based on his own personal knowledge of and experience with the officer" and "were not based on anything that [the juror] had read or heard about the case").

c. Misconduct Involving the Parties, Witnesses, or Attorneys

"If a conviction is obtained through the knowing use of perjured testimony, it 'must be set aside if there is any reasonable likelihood that the false testimony could have affected the judgment of the jury.'" People v Aceval, 282 Mich App 379, 389 (2009), quoting United States v Agurs, 427 US 97, 103 (1976). "Stated differently, a conviction will be reversed and a new trial will be ordered, but only if the tainted evidence is material to the defendant's guilt or punishment." Aceval, 282 Mich App at 389.

“It is inconsistent with due process when the prosecution allows false testimony from a state’s witness to stand uncorrected.” People v Smith (Feronda), 498 Mich 466, 475 (2015). In Smith (Feronda), 498 Mich at 470, “the prosecution breached a duty to correct the substantially misleading, if not false, testimony of a key witness about his formal and compensated cooperation in the government’s investigation.” The defendant was entitled to a new trial because, “[g]iven the overall weakness of the evidence against the defendant and the significance of the witness’s testimony, . . . there [was] a reasonable probability that the prosecution’s exploitation of the substantially misleading testimony affected the verdict.” Id. “Due process required that the jury be accurately apprised of the incentives underlying the testimony of this critical witness,” and “[c]apitalizing on [the witness]’s testimony that he had no paid involvement in the defendant’s case [was] inconsistent with a prosecutor’s duty to correct false testimony.” Id. at 480, 487. Because “there [was] a ‘reasonable likelihood’ that the false impression resulting from the prosecutor’s exploitation of the testimony affected the judgment of the jury[,] . . . the defendant [was] entitled to a new trial.” Id. at 483, quoting Napue v Illinois, 360 US 264, 271 (1959). Cf. People v Schrauben, 314 Mich App 181, 188-189 (2016) (the trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying the defendant’s motion for a new trial based on perjury where, “[e]ven if the prosecution knowingly presented perjured testimony, the false testimony likely would not have affected the judgment of the jury[;]” although “the inconsistencies [in a key witness’s testimony] . . . certainly cast doubt on [the witness’s] testimony at trial and raised questions as to his involvement in the [defendant’s crimes],” “there was concrete evidence presented which implicated defendant, despite the level of [the witness’s] potential involvement”).

d. Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

The Michigan and United States Constitutions guarantee criminal defendants the right to the effective assistance of counsel. US Const, Am VI; Const 1963, art 1, § 20; People v LeBlanc, 465 Mich 575, 578 (2002).

“In order to preserve the issue of effective assistance of counsel for appellate review, the defendant should make a motion in the trial court for a new trial or for an evidentiary [*Ginther*¹³] hearing.” People v Sabin, 242 Mich App 656, 658 (2000).

“A claim of ineffective assistance of counsel presents a mixed question of fact and constitutional law,” and “[t]he trial court’s factual findings are reviewed for clear error, while the ultimate constitutional issue is reviewed de novo.” People v Traver (On Remand), ___ Mich App ___, ___ (2019).

“[T]o demonstrate ineffective assistance, a defendant must show that his [or her] attorney’s performance fell below an objective standard of reasonableness.” People v Grant (William), 470 Mich 477, 485 (2004). “The defendant must show also that this performance so prejudiced him [or her] that he [or she] was deprived of a fair trial.” Id. at 486. “To establish prejudice, he [or she] must show a reasonable probability that the outcome would have been different but for counsel’s errors.” Id. See Strickland v Washington, 466 US 668, 687-688 (1984); People v Pickens, 446 Mich 298, 302-303 (1994).¹⁴ “[A] defendant’s inability to satisfy the plain-error standard¹⁵ in connection with a specific trial court error does not necessarily mean that he or she cannot meet the ineffective-assistance standard regarding counsel’s alleged deficient performance relating to that same error.” People v Randolph, 502 Mich 1, 22 (2018). “Courts must independently analyze each claim, even if the subject of a defendant’s claim relates to the same error.” Id. at 22.

“Decisions regarding what evidence to present and whether to call or question witnesses are presumed to be matters of trial strategy[.]” People v Davis (Marcus) (On Rehearing), 250 Mich App 357, 368 (2002). “[T]he failure to call witnesses only constitutes ineffective assistance of ¹³*People v Ginther*, 390 Mich 436 (1963).

¹⁴ “[T]here is generally no basis for finding a Sixth Amendment violation unless the accused can show how specific errors of counsel undermined the reliability of the finding of guilt.” United States v Cronin, 466 US 648, 659 n 26 (1984), citing Strickland, 466 US at 693-696. However, in Cronin, 466 US at 658-660, the United States Supreme Court identified three rare “circumstances that are so likely to prejudice the accused that the cost of litigating their effect in a particular case is unjustified” and in which prejudice is therefore presumed: (1) “the complete denial of counsel[.]” such as where “the accused is denied counsel at a critical stage of his [or her] trial[.]” (2) where “counsel entirely fails to subject the prosecution’s case to meaningful adversarial testing[.]” and (3) “the likelihood that counsel could have performed as an effective adversary was so remote as to have made the trial inherently unfair.” See also People v Frazier (Corey), 478 Mich 231, 243 (2007).

counsel if it deprives the defendant of a substantial defense.” People v Dixon (Darrell), 263 Mich App 393, 398 (2004). “A substantial defense is one that might have made a difference in the outcome of the trial.” People v Kelly (Robert), 186 Mich App 524, 526 (1990). “[T]rial counsel cannot be faulted for failing to raise an objection or motion that would have been futile[,]” People v Fike, 228 Mich App 178, 182 (1998), and “[t]rial counsel is not required to advocate a meritless position.” People v Snider, 239 Mich App 393, 425 (2000).

For more information about ineffective assistance of counsel, see the Michigan Judicial Institute’s table providing an overview of several factual situations where ineffective assistance of counsel was alleged.

e. Brady Violations

A defendant may be entitled to a new trial on the basis of a violation of Brady v Maryland, 373 US 83 (1963). See People v Dimambro, 318 Mich App 204, 221 (2016). In order to establish a Brady violation, a defendant must establish that “(1) the prosecution has suppressed evidence; (2) that is favorable to the accused; and (3) viewed in its totality, is material.” People v Chenault, 495 Mich 142, 155, 158-159 (2014) (“even in the absence of the suppressed evidence, the defendant received a trial that resulted in a verdict worthy of confidence[;] [t]he defendant’s Brady claim must fail because the suppressed evidence was not material to his guilt”). Cf. Dimambro, 318 Mich App at 221 (“the trial court properly concluded that defendant [was] entitled to a new trial based on the government’s failure to disclose . . . photographs before trial” because there was “a reasonable probability that the outcome of the trial might have been different had the photographs been disclosed to the defense,” and without them the defendant did not receive “a trial resulting in a verdict worthy of confidence”) (quotation marks and citation omitted).

f. Polygraph Examinations

“Polygraph test results may be considered in deciding a motion for a new trial where[] . . . (1) they are offered on behalf of the defendant, (2) the test was taken voluntarily, (3) the professional qualifications and the quality of the polygraph equipment meets with the approval of the court, (4) either the prosecutor or the court is able to obtain an independent examination of the subject or of the test results by an operator of the court's choice, and (5) the results are considered only with regard to the general credibility of the subject." Mechura, 205 Mich App at 484.

g. Counsel's Admission of Client's Guilt Over Client's Objection

Under the Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution, "a defendant has the right to insist that counsel refrain from admitting guilt[.]" McCoy v Louisiana, 584 US ___, ___ (2018).¹⁶ "With individual liberty . . . at stake, it is the defendant's prerogative, not counsel's, to decide on the objective of his defense: to admit guilt in the hope of gaining mercy at the sentencing stage, or to maintain his innocence, leaving it to the State to prove his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt." Id. at ___ (holding that defense counsel's concession of the defendant's guilt over his objection was a violation of the defendant's "Sixth Amendment-secured autonomy" that constituted structural error requiring a new trial).

1.6 Motion for Judgment of Acquittal (Directed Verdict) After Jury Verdict¹⁷

In addition to the following discussion, see the Michigan Judicial Institute's Motion for Directed Verdict of Acquittal After Jury Verdict Checklist.

A. After Jury Verdict

"After a jury verdict, the defendant may file an original or renewed motion for directed verdict of acquittal in the same manner as provided by MCR 6.431\(A\) for filing a motion for a new trial." MCR 6.419\(C\).¹⁸

¹⁶*McCoy* was not decided under MCR 6.431; however, its analysis is relevant because a new trial may be ordered by the court under MCR 6.431\(B\) "on any ground that would support appellate reversal of the conviction or because it believes that the verdict has resulted in a miscarriage of justice." In McCoy, the defendant faced the possibility of the death penalty, and defense counsel's "experienced-based view" was that "confessing guilt offer[ed] the defendant the best chance to avoid the death penalty." McCoy, 584 US at ___.

¹⁷ See the Michigan Judicial Institute's Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 1, Chapter 10, for more information on a prejudgment motion for directed verdict.

¹⁸ See Section 1.5 for more information on MCR 6.431\(A\) and motions for a new trial.

“No judgment or verdict shall be set aside or reversed . . . by any court of this state in any criminal case, on the ground of misdirection of the jury, or the improper admission or rejection of evidence, or for error as to any matter of pleading or procedure, unless in the opinion of the court, after an examination of the entire cause, it shall affirmatively appear that the error complained of has resulted in a miscarriage of justice.” MCL 769.26. MCL 769.26 “creates a presumption that preserved, nonconstitutional error is harmless, which presumption may be rebutted by a showing that the error resulted in a miscarriage of justice.” People v Lukity, 460 Mich 484, 493 (1999). “[MCL 769.26] presumes that a preserved, nonconstitutional error is not a ground for reversal unless ‘after an examination of the entire cause, it shall affirmatively appear’ that it is more probable than not that the error was outcome determinative.” Lukity, 460 Mich at 495-496. See People v Feezel, 486 Mich 184, 188 (2010) (where “the trial court abused its discretion by failing to admit evidence of the victim’s intoxication because it was relevant to the element of causation[,]” “the error resulted in a miscarriage of justice, which therefore requires reversal under MCL 769.26”).

“If the court grants a directed verdict of acquittal after the jury has returned a guilty verdict, it must also conditionally rule on any motion for a new trial by determining whether it would grant the motion if the directed verdict of acquittal is vacated or reversed.” MCR 6.419\(E\).

B. Explanation of Rulings on the Record

“The court must state orally on the record or in a written ruling made a part of the record its reasons for granting or denying a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal and for conditionally granting or denying a motion for a new trial.” MCR 6.419\(F\).

See Order of Acquittal/Dismissal or Remand, MC 262; Order Vacating Conviction and Entering New Disposition, CC 387.

C. Standard of Review

“When reviewing a trial court’s decision on a motion for a directed verdict, [the appellate court] reviews the record de novo to determine whether the evidence presented by the prosecutor, viewed in the light most favorable to the prosecutor, could persuade a rational trier of fact that the essential elements of the crime charged were proved beyond a reasonable doubt.” People v Aldrich, 246 Mich App 101, 122 (2001).

1.7 Motion to Withdraw Plea After Sentence

“The defendant may file a motion to withdraw the plea within 6 months after sentence or within the time provided by [MCR 6.310(C)(2)].” MCR 6.310(C)(1). “If 6 months have elapsed since sentencing, the defendant may file a motion to withdraw the plea if:

(a) the defendant has filed a request for the appointment of counsel pursuant to MCR 6.425(G)(1) within the 6-month period,

(b) the defendant or defendant’s lawyer, if one is appointed, has ordered the appropriate transcripts within 28 days of service of the order granting or denying the request for counsel or substitute counsel, unless the transcript has already been filed or has been ordered by the court under MCR 6.425(G), and

(c) the motion to withdraw the plea is filed in accordance with the provisions of this subrule within 42 days after the filing of the transcript. If the transcript was filed before the order appointing counsel or substitute counsel, or the order denying the appointment of counsel, the 42-day period runs from the date of that order.” MCR 6.310(C)(2).

“Thereafter, the defendant may seek relief only in accordance with the procedure set forth in [MCR 6.500 *et seq*¹⁹].” MCR 6.310(C)(3).

For pleas accepted on or after September 1, 2018, if the motion is received after the expiration of the periods set forth in MCR 6.310(C)(1)-(3), and the defendant has submitted the motion as a pro se party and is an inmate in the custody of the Michigan Department of Corrections or housed in a federal or other state’s penal institution, “the motion shall be deemed presented for filing on the date of deposit of the motion in the outgoing mail at the correctional institution in which the inmate is housed.” MCR 6.310(C)(5). Timely filing may be shown by a sworn statement filed with the motion setting forth the date of deposit and stating that first-class postage has been prepaid. Id.

“If the trial court determines that there was an error in the plea proceeding that would entitle the defendant to have the plea set aside, the court must give the advice or make the inquiries necessary to rectify the error and then give the defendant the opportunity to elect to allow the plea and sentence to stand or to withdraw the plea.” MCR 6.310(C)(4). “If the defendant elects to allow the plea and sentence to stand, the additional advice given and inquiries made become part of the plea proceeding for purposes of further proceedings, including appeals.”

“A defendant seeking to withdraw his or her plea after sentencing must demonstrate a defect in the plea-taking process.” People v Brown (Shawn), 492 Mich 684, 693 (2012).

In Brown, 492 Mich at 687-688, the defendant pleaded guilty, as a second-offense habitual offender under MCL 769.10, to second-degree home invasion. The defendant was advised at his plea hearing that the maximum sentence for second-degree home invasion was 15 years in prison; however, the defendant was subsequently sentenced, as an habitual offender, to a maximum prison term of more than 22 years. Brown, 492 Mich at 688. The Michigan Supreme Court concluded that MCR 6.302\(B\)\(2\) requires that “before pleading guilty, a defendant must be notified of the maximum possible prison sentence with habitual-offender enhancement, because the enhanced maximum becomes the ‘maximum possible prison sentence’ for the principal offense.” Brown, 492 Mich at 693-694, overruling People v Boatman, 273 Mich App 405, 406-410 (2006). The Court additionally held that “[MCR 6.310\(C\)\(4\)] . . . provides the proper remedy for a plea that is defective under MCR 6.302\(B\)\(2\), which is to allow the defendant the opportunity to withdraw his or her plea.” Brown, 492 Mich at 698.²⁰

“[U]nder MCR 6.310\(C\), a defendant, upon showing a defect in the plea-taking process, is entitled to have the error corrected by the trial court and to thereafter have ‘the opportunity to elect to allow the plea and sentence to stand or to withdraw the plea.’” People v Blanton, 317 Mich App 107, 121, 126 (2016) (“[b]ecause the plea agreement was indivisible, the trial court did not abuse its discretion by allowing defendant to withdraw the plea in its entirety, rather than withdraw only the plea affected by the trial court’s omission”). See also People v Coleman, ___ Mich App ___, ___ (2019) (where the defendant “pleaded to multiple charges at the same time, some charges were dropped in exchange for her plea, the charges and the plea agreement were described in singular documents, and the plea was accepted in a single proceeding,” the defendant “should have been afforded the right to withdraw her entire plea” despite the fact that the defect—failure to inform the defendant about mandatory registration as a sex offender—only pertained to one of the charges); People v Pointer-Bey, 321 Mich App 609, 617 (2017) (where the “defendant was not informed of the maximum possible sentence for felon-in-possession,” the erroneous advice “rendered defendant’s plea proceeding defective[; c]onsequently, defendant was entitled to withdraw his plea in its entirety” and be given “the opportunity to elect

A. Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

"[T]he negotiation of a plea bargain is a critical phase of litigation for purposes of the Sixth Amendment right to effective assistance of counsel." Padilla v Kentucky, 559 US 356, 373 (2010).²¹ See also Missouri v Frye, 566 US 133, 143 (2012) ("plea bargains have become so central to the administration of the criminal justice system that defense counsel have responsibilities in the plea bargain process, responsibilities that must be met to render the adequate assistance of counsel that the Sixth Amendment requires in the criminal process at critical stages").

"[C]laims of ineffective assistance of counsel in the plea bargain context are governed by the two-part test set forth in Strickland v Washington, 466 US 668, 687 (1984)." Frye, 566 US at 140 (objective standard of reasonableness and resulting prejudice). For more information about ineffective assistance of counsel, see the Michigan Judicial Institute's table providing an overview of several factual situations where ineffective assistance of counsel was alleged.

1. Lapsed or Rejected Plea Offer

a. Establishing Ineffective Assistance of Counsel Under Strickland

"[A]s a general rule, defense counsel has the duty to communicate formal offers from the prosecution to accept a plea on terms and conditions that may be favorable to the accused[,] . . . [and w]hen defense counsel allow[s] such an] offer to expire without advising the defendant or allowing him to consider it, defense counsel [does] not render the effective assistance the Constitution requires." Frye, 566 US at 145. "To show prejudice from ineffective assistance of counsel where a plea offer has lapsed or been rejected because of counsel's deficient performance, defendants must demonstrate a reasonable probability they would have accepted the earlier plea offer[;] . . . a reasonable probability the plea would have been entered without the prosecution canceling it or the trial court refusing to accept it, if they had the authority to exercise that discretion under state law[;] . . . [and] a reasonable probability that the end result of the criminal process would have been more favorable by reason of a plea to a lesser charge or a sentence of less prison time.” Id. at 147.

“In Frye, defense counsel did not inform the defendant of the plea offer; and after the offer lapsed the defendant still pleaded guilty, but on more severe terms.” Lafler v Cooper, 566 US 156, 160 (2012) (Frye, 566 US at 151, was remanded for the state court to determine whether the defendant satisfied the Strickland requirements). In Lafler, 566 US at 160, “[a] favorable plea offer was reported to the client but, on advice of counsel, was rejected[;]” “after the plea offer had been rejected, there was a full and fair trial before a jury[and] [a]fter a guilty verdict, the defendant received a sentence harsher than that offered in the rejected plea bargain.” The Lafler Court determined that “Strickland’s two-part test [was satisfied:] . . . the fact of deficient performance [was] conceded by all parties . . . and [the defendant showed] that but for counsel’s deficient performance there [was] a reasonable probability he and the trial court would have accepted the guilty plea.” “In addition, as a result of not accepting the plea and being convicted at trial, [the defendant] received a minimum sentence [much] greater than he would have received under the plea.” Id. at 274. Cf. People v Douglas, 496 Mich 557, 590-591, 598 (2014) (“[a]lthough during the plea-bargaining process counsel indisputably misadvised the defendant of the consequences he faced if convicted at trial, the trial court did not reversibly err in determining that the defendant ha[d] not shown prejudice as a result of counsel’s deficient performance[;]” “the record amply support[ed] the conclusion that, even had the defendant been properly advised of the consequences he faced if convicted at trial, it was not reasonably probable that he would have accepted the prosecution’s plea offer”).

“The Lafler opinion did not create a new rule—it merely determined how the Strickland test applied to the specific factual context concerning plea bargaining.” People v Walker (On Remand), ___ Mich App ___, ___ (2019). Accordingly, Lafler applies retroactively. Walker, ___ Mich App at ___ (affirming the trial court’s “order holding that defendant was denied the effective assistance of counsel when his trial attorney failed to inform defendant of the plea offer”).

b. Remedy

“The specific injury suffered by defendants who decline a plea offer as a result of ineffective assistance of counsel and then receive a greater sentence as a result of trial can come in at least one of two forms.” Lafler, 566 US at 170. “In some cases, the sole advantage a defendant would have received under the plea is a lesser sentence.” Id. at 170-171. “This is typically the case when the charges that would have been admitted as part of the plea bargain are the same as the charges the defendant was convicted of after trial.” Id. at 171. “In this situation the court may conduct an evidentiary hearing to determine whether the defendant has shown a reasonable probability that but for counsel’s errors he [or she] would have accepted the plea.” Id. “If the showing is made, the court may exercise discretion in determining whether the defendant should receive the term of imprisonment the government offered in the plea, the sentence he [or she] received at trial, or something in between.” Id.

“In some situations it may be that resentencing alone will not be full redress for the constitutional injury.” Lafler, 566 US at 171. “If, for example, an offer was for a guilty plea to a count or counts less serious than the ones for which a defendant was convicted after trial, or if a mandatory sentence confines a judge’s sentencing discretion after trial, a resentencing based on the conviction at trial may not suffice.” Id. “In these circumstances, the proper exercise of discretion to remedy the constitutional injury may be to require the prosecution to reoffer the plea proposal.” Id. “Once this has occurred, the judge can then exercise discretion in deciding whether to vacate the conviction from trial and accept the plea or leave the conviction undisturbed.” Id.

“In implementing a remedy in both of these situations, the trial court must weigh various factors[.]” Lafler, 566 US at 171. “[T]wo considerations . . . are of relevance[: f]irst, a court may take account of a defendant’s earlier expressed willingness, or unwillingness, to accept responsibility for his or her actions[: s]econd, . . . any information concerning the crime that was discovered after the plea offer was made[] . . . can be consulted in finding a remedy that does not require the prosecution to incur the expense of conducting a new trial.” Id. at 171-172.

2. Erroneous Advice Leading to Entry of Plea

“[I]n reviewing a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel arising out of a guilty plea, the courts should focus upon whether the defendant’s plea was made voluntarily and understandingly.” In re Oakland Co Pros, 191 Mich App 113, 120 (1991).

“Where . . . a defendant is represented by counsel during the plea process and enters his [or her] plea upon the advice of counsel, the voluntariness of the plea depends on whether counsel’s advice ‘was within the range of competence demanded of attorneys in criminal cases.’” Hill, 474 US at 56, quoting McMann v Richardson, 397 US 759, 771 (1970).

Strickland, 466 US at 694, ordinarily requires the defendant to establish “‘a reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s unprofessional errors, the result of the proceeding would have been different.’” Lee v United States, 582 US ___, ___ (2017), quoting Roe v Flores-Ortega, 528 US 470, 482 (2000). However, where a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel arises from the acceptance of a plea, the defendant must establish prejudice by demonstrating “a ‘reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s errors, he [or she] would not have pleaded guilty and would have insisted on going to trial.’” Lee, 582 US at ___, quoting Hill, 474 US at 59.²²

Under this type of claim, “counsel’s ‘deficient performance arguably led not to a judicial proceeding of disputed reliability, but rather to the forfeiture of a proceeding itself.’” Lee, 582 US at ___ (quoting Flores-Ortega, 528 US at 482-483, and noting that while “‘a strong presumption of reliability [ordinarily applies] to judicial proceedings,’” such a presumption cannot be accorded “‘to judicial proceedings that never took place’”).

For a defendant deciding whether to plead guilty, “there is more to consider than simply the likelihood of success at trial,” and when the consequences of a conviction are dire, “even the smallest chance of success at trial may look attractive.” Lee, 582 US at ___. “Rather than asking how a hypothetical trial would have played out absent the error, the [court should consider] whether there was an adequate showing that the defendant, properly advised, would have opted to go to trial.” Id. at ___. In making this determination, “[c]ourts should not upset a plea solely because of post hoc assertions from a defendant about how he [or she] would have pleaded but for his [or her] attorney’s deficiencies[; j]udges should instead look to contemporaneous evidence to substantiate a defendant’s expressed preferences.” Id. at ___ (rejecting “a per se rule that a defendant with no viable defense cannot show prejudice from the denial of his [or her] right to trial”).

²²Prejudice is presumed “when an attorney’s deficient performance costs a defendant an appeal that the defendant would have otherwise pursued,” and this presumption applies “even when the defendant has, in the course of pleading guilty, signed what is often called an ‘appeal waiver’—that is, an agreement forgoing certain, but not all, possible appellate claims.” Garza v Idaho, 586 US ___, ___ (2019), citing Flores-Ortega, 528 US at 484.

In Lee, 582 US at ___, the defendant, a lawful permanent resident of the United States, accepted a plea agreement and pleaded guilty to a drug charge after defense counsel erroneously advised him that the conviction would not result in deportation.²³ The United States Supreme Court held that the defendant had demonstrated prejudice and was entitled to relief from his conviction on ineffective-assistance-of-counsel grounds, even though he “had ‘no bona fide defense, not even a weak one[.]’” Id. at ___ (citation omitted). Although it was unlikely that he would be acquitted after a trial, “the defendant was prejudiced by the ‘denial of the entire judicial proceeding . . . to which he had a right’” because “‘deportation was the determinative issue in [his] decision whether to accept the plea deal.’” Id. at ___ (noting that the defendant “asked his attorney repeatedly whether there was any risk of deportation from the proceedings,” and that “both [the defendant] and his attorney testified at the evidentiary hearing [on the defendant’s motion to vacate his conviction and sentence] that [the defendant] would have gone to trial if he had known about the deportation consequences”) (citations omitted; ellipses in original). “[The defendant’s] claim that he would not have accepted a plea had he known it would lead to deportation [was] backed by substantial and uncontroverted evidence[;]” accordingly, he “demonstrated a ‘reasonable probability that, but for [his] counsel’s errors, he would not have pleaded guilty and would have insisted on going to trial.’” Id. at ___, quoting Hill, 474 US at 59 (fourth alteration in original).

B. Standard of Review

Appellate courts “review[] for an abuse of discretion a trial court’s ruling on a motion to withdraw a plea.” People v Brown (Shawn), 492 Mich 684, 688 (2012).

²³ Defense counsel is constitutionally required to inform his or her client that a plea “may carry a risk of adverse immigration consequences[.]” e.g., deportation. Padilla, 559 US at 369.

1.8 Motion to Correct Invalid Sentence

In addition to the following discussion, see the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Motion to Correct an Invalid Sentence Checklist.

A. Authority to Modify Sentence

“The court may correct an invalid sentence, on its own initiative after giving the parties an opportunity to be heard, or on motion by either party.” MCR 6.429(A). If the court corrects an invalid sentence on its own initiative, it must do so within 6 months of the entry of the judgment of conviction and sentence. Id.

“[T]he court may not modify a valid sentence after it has been imposed except as provided by law.” MCR 6.429(A). “This reflects the well-recognized principle that trial courts possess the power to review and correct an invalid sentence.” People v Comer, 500 Mich 278, 295 (2017).²⁴ “It also distinguishes this power from the trial court’s authority to modify a valid sentence, which is much more circumscribed.” Id. See also People v Holder, 483 Mich 168, 170, 177 (2009) (holding the trial court had no authority to modify the defendant’s judgment of sentence where the original sentence was valid at the time it was imposed); People v Moore (Louis), 468 Mich 573, 579 (2003) (“[a] trial judge has the authority to resentence a defendant only when the previously imposed sentence is invalid”); People v Wybrecht, 222 Mich App 160, 166 (1997) (holding a “trial court lacks authority to set aside a valid sentence once the defendant begins serving it”).

Entitlement to resentencing under Miller v Alabama, 567 US 460 (2012) and Montgomery v Louisiana, ___ US ___ (2016) for an invalid life without parole sentence does not entitle a defendant to resentencing on all related convictions because any related convictions are not automatically invalidated. People v Williams (Ronald), 326 Mich App 514, 525 (2018) (distinguishing cases where resentencing was required because related sentences “contemplated invalid prior convictions, thus invalidating the sentences”). Accordingly, the trial court lacked the authority to resentence the defendant on his related convictions where his first-degree murder sentence of life without parole — not his conviction — was invalidated because the defendant’s remaining sentences remained valid. Id. at 525.

²⁴*Comer* interpreted a former version of MCR 6.429; however, this provision remains substantially the same as the version that Comer interpreted. The 2018 amendments to MCR 6.429 specifically granted trial courts sua sponte authority to amend erroneous judgments in response to the holding in Comer. See the May 23, 2018 Staff Comment to MCR 6.429; ADM File No. 2015-04. “[A] staff comment to the Michigan Court Rules is not binding authority.” People v Williams (Carletus), 483 Mich 226, 238 n 15 (2009).

B. Invalid Sentences

“Invalid sentence refers to any error or defect in the sentence or sentencing procedure that entitles a defendant to be resentenced or to have the sentence changed.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.429.²⁵ “[A]n inadvertently stated sentence cannot be set aside merely on the ground that the court misspoke.” People v Thomas (Gerry), 447 Mich 390, 393 (1994).

A sentence is invalid under the following circumstances:

- When it violates the “two-thirds rule” in People v Tanner, 387 Mich 683, 689-690 (1972),²⁶ and MCL 769.34\(2\)\(b\). See Thomas, 447 Mich at 392-394 (determining proper way to correct a sentence that violates the two-thirds rule, assuming without explicitly stating that the sentence in violation of the two-thirds rule is invalid; specifically, the Court noted that “a sentencing court may not later modify a valid sentence,” and holds that adjustment of a sentence in violation of the two-thirds rule requires adjustment of the part of the sentence that is invalid, i.e., the minimum term of the sentence in violation of the two-thirds rule).
- When it exceeds statutory limits. People v Shipley, 256 Mich App 367, 378 (2003); People v Pointer-Bey, 321 Mich App 609, 620 (2017) (holding the defendant’s sentence was invalid and had to be corrected where “the sentence imposed exceeded the statutory limit”). A sentence in excess of the statutory limit is only invalid to the extent it exceeds the statutory limit. MCL 769.24; Thomas, 447 Mich at 393-394.
- When it is an impermissible combination of terms. People v Parish, 282 Mich App 106, 107-108 (2009) (the defendant’s sentence of a minimum term of years and a maximum of life in prison violated MCL 769.9\(2\), which provides that “[t]he court shall not impose a sentence in which the maximum penalty is life imprisonment with a minimum for a term of years included in the same sentence”).
- When concurrent sentences were imposed and consecutive sentencing was mandatory.²⁷ People v Howell (Marlon), 300 Mich App 638, 646-647 (2013); People v Thomas (Roberto), 223 Mich App 9, 11 (1997).

²⁵ “[A] staff comment to the Michigan Court Rules is not binding authority.” Williams, 483 Mich at 239 n 15.

²⁶ See the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 2, Chapter 1 for discussion of the Tanner rule.

²⁷ See the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 2, Chapter 8 for more information on concurrent and consecutive sentencing.

- When the court mistakenly imposes consecutive sentences without statutory authority to do so. People v Alexander (Ronald), 234 Mich App 665, 677-678 (1999).
 - A defendant’s due process rights are not implicated and a resentencing hearing is unnecessary where correction of the invalid sentence results in a decrease to the defendant’s overall prison term. Alexander, 234 Mich App at 678.
- When the sentence is based on inaccurate information or an error in scoring the sentencing guidelines.²⁸ People v Jackson (Leonard), 487 Mich 783, 792 (2010).²⁹ See also People v Miles (Dwayne), 454 Mich 90, 96 (1997) (stating a sentence is invalid where it is based on inaccurate information).
- When the sentence is based on constitutionally impermissible grounds. Miles, 454 Mich at 96; People v Conley, 270 Mich App 301, 316 (2006) (holding that MCL 769.34\(10\) “cannot authorize action in violation of the federal or state constitutions”).
 - Where a trial court implies that it might impose a more lenient sentence if the defendant provides the court with information that requires the defendant to effectively admit his guilt, the court “violate[s] [the defendant’s] constitutional right against self-incrimination,” and the sentence is invalid. Conley, 270 Mich App at 314-316.
 - It is constitutionally impermissible when fashioning a defendant’s sentence for a trial court to rely on a defendant’s constitutionally infirm prior convictions. People v Whalen, 412 Mich 166, 169 (1981). However, there exists no presumption that a court considered an unconstitutional prior conviction simply because the conviction was included in the information before the court at the time of sentencing. Alexander, 234 Mich App at 672. For such an issue to merit review, there must be some affirmative evidence that a sentencing court actually considered the conviction in question. Id.

²⁸ In People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 365, 399 (2015), the Court held that although “a sentencing court must determine the applicable guidelines range and take it into account when imposing a sentence,” the guidelines “are advisory only.” Because nothing in Lockridge specifically calls into question the standards currently governing appellate review of judicial fact-finding in scoring the (now advisory) guidelines, it is unclear to what extent these standards remain good law.

²⁹ However, “[w]here a scoring error does not alter the appropriate guidelines range, resentencing is not required.” People v Francisco, 474 Mich 82, 89 n 8 (2006).

- When the sentence is based on a trial court’s improper assumption of the defendant’s guilt. Miles, 454 Mich at 96.
- When the sentence “conforms to local sentencing policy rather than individualized facts.” Miles, 454 Mich at 96.
- When a trial court “fails to exercise its discretion because of a mistaken belief in the law.” People v Green (Donte), 205 Mich App 342, 346 (1994). See also Miles, 454 Mich at 96 (stating a sentence is invalid where it is based on a misconception of law).
 - A sentence was deemed invalid when the trial court imposed consecutive sentences under the mistaken belief that consecutive sentencing was mandatory. People v Daniels (Virgil), 69 Mich App 345, 349-350 (1976).
 - “[T]here is no legal requirement that a trial court state on the record that it understands it has [sentencing] discretion and is utilizing that discretion [when imposing a sentence].” People v Knapp, 244 Mich App 361, 389 (2001). In the absence of record evidence that a court wrongly believed it had no discretion, a court is presumed to know the law and the judicial discretion the law authorizes. Id.
 - There was “no misunderstanding [of the law] by the sentencing judge that would entitle the defendant to resentencing” where the trial court clearly expressed its intention that—despite imposing a sentence of life imprisonment—the defendant be considered for parole, and after consideration of the defendant the Parole Board determined that it had “no interest” in granting parole. People v Moore (Louis), 468 Mich 573, 580 (2003) (noting that “the sentencing judge did not express any intention that defendant actually be paroled, but only that the Parole Board consider whether to parole him,” and holding that “the failure to accurately predict the actions of the Parole Board does not constitute a misapprehension of the law that could render the sentence invalid”).
- When a court fails to utilize a reasonably updated presentence investigation report (PSIR) when imposing a sentence. People v Hemphill, 439 Mich 576, 580-581 (1992) (holding defendant waived right to have PSIR updated for resentencing hearing).
- When the defendant and defense counsel are not given the opportunity to address the court before sentence is imposed. MCR 6.425\(E\)\(1\)\(c\); People v Wells (Davan), 238 Mich App 383, 392 (1999).

C. Time for Filing Motion

“MCR 6.429\(B\) provides a detailed process governing how and when a party may file a motion to correct an invalid sentence.” People v Comer, 500 Mich 278, 295 (2017).

“A motion to correct an invalid sentence may be filed before the filing of a timely claim of appeal.” MCR 6.429\(B\)\(1\). “Specifically, before the filing of a timely claim of appeal, either party may file a motion to correct an invalid sentence under MCR 6.429\(B\)\(1\).” Comer, 500 Mich at 295.

“After a claim of appeal has been filed, a party may only file a motion to correct an invalid sentence as specified by MCR 6.429\(B\)\(2\) and [MCR 6.429\(B\)\(3\)].” Comer, 500 Mich at 295. “These motions are time limited.” Id.

“If a claim of appeal has been filed, a motion to correct an invalid sentence may only be filed in accordance with the procedure set forth in MCR 7.208\(B\)³⁰ or the remand procedure set forth in MCR 7.211\(C\)\(1\).” MCR 6.429\(B\)\(2\). “If a claim of appeal has been filed, a defendant has 56 days to file a motion to correct an invalid sentence.” Comer, 500 Mich at 295-296. Otherwise, “the appellant may file a motion to remand within the time provided for filing the appellant’s brief.” Id. at 296.

“If the defendant may only appeal by leave or fails to file a timely claim of appeal, a motion to correct an invalid sentence may be filed:

(a) within 6 months of entry of the judgment of conviction and sentence, or,

(b) if 6 months have elapsed since entry of the judgment of conviction and sentence, the defendant may file a motion to correct an invalid sentence if:

(i) the defendant has filed a request for the appointment of counsel pursuant to MCR 6.425\(G\)\(1\) within the 6-month period,

(ii) [t]he defendant or defendant’s lawyer, if one is appointed, has ordered the appropriate transcripts within 28 days of service of the order granting or denying the request for counsel or substitute

³⁰See Section 1.3 for more information on MCR 7.208\(B\).

counsel, unless the transcript has already been filed or has been ordered by the court under MCR 6.425\(G\), and

(iii) [t]he motion to correct invalid sentence is filed in accordance with the provisions of this subrule within 42 days after the filing of the transcript. If the transcript was filed before the order appointing counsel or substitute counsel, or the order . . . denying the appointment of counsel, the 42-day period runs from the date of that order.” MCR 6.429\(B\)\(3\).

“In cases where[] . . . a defendant may only appeal by leave, either party has six months from the entry of the judgment of sentence to file a motion to correct an invalid sentence,” Comer, 500 Mich at 296, or, if six months have elapsed since entry of the judgment of conviction and sentence, the defendant may file a motion to correct an invalid sentence, MCR 6.429\(B\)\(3\)\(b\).

“If the defendant is no longer entitled to appeal by right or by leave, the defendant may seek relief pursuant to the procedure set forth in [MCR 6.500 et seq.]” MCR 6.429\(B\)\(4\).

For pleas accepted on or after September 1, 2018, if the motion is received after the expiration of the periods set forth in MCR 6.429\(B\)\(1\)-\(3\), and the defendant has submitted the motion as a pro se party and is an inmate in the custody of the Michigan Department of Corrections or housed in a federal or other state’s penal institution, “the motion shall be deemed presented for filing on the date of deposit of the motion in the outgoing mail at the correctional institution in which the inmate is housed.” MCR 6.429\(B\)\(5\). Timely filing may be shown by a sworn statement filed with the motion setting forth the date of deposit and stating that first-class postage has been prepaid. Id.

D. Correcting Invalid Sentences

1. Vacating Partial or Entire Sentence

“Where a sentence is partially invalid, only the invalid part is to be vacated for resentencing; however, a wholly invalid sentence is to be vacated in its entirety[.]” People v Parish, 282 Mich App 106, 108 (2009). In Parish, the defendant’s sentence of 126 months to life in prison was invalid because it violated MCL 769.9\(2\), which provides that a court “shall not impose a sentence in which the maximum penalty is life imprisonment with a minimum for a term of years included in the same sentence.”

Parish, 282 Mich App at 107. The Court of Appeals held that the defendant’s original sentence was wholly invalid because it was “an impermissible combination of terms,” and resentencing was required. Id. at 108.

2. Resentencing is De Novo

“[O]nce an original sentence is vacated, the case is placed in a presentence posture,” and “[a]s a result, at resentencing, every aspect of the sentence is before the judge de novo[.]” People v Davis (Stafano), 300 Mich App 502, 509 (2013) (quotation marks and citation omitted, third alteration in original). See also People v Parish, 282 Mich App 106, 108 (2009) (holding that “resentencing is to be de novo,” and concluding “that the trial court was not precluded from imposing a new sentence with a longer minimum term”).

In resentencing the defendant, “[t]he trial court may consider the contents of the presentence investigation report [(PSIR)] when calculating the guidelines and the victims may have their statements included in the PSIR.” Davis, 300 Mich App at 509-510 (holding that where the case was remanded to reconsider the scoring of OV 13 and the remand order instructed the trial court to consider whether to resentence the defendant if it determined that OV 13 was improperly scored “the trial court was able to consider and decide other issues at resentencing once it determined that OV 13 had been erroneously scored, . . . includ[ing] consideration of [a] newly appended victim’s impact statement”).

3. Required Notice

MCL 769.27 states that a court must provide notice to all parties of any change made to a sentence:

“If the court changes any sentence imposed under this act in any respect, the clerk of the court shall give written notice of the change to the prosecuting attorney, the defendant, and the defendant’s counsel. The prosecuting attorney, the defendant’s counsel, or the defendant may file an objection to the change. The court shall promptly hold a hearing on any objection filed.”

4. Due Process Requirements

“Certain sentence modifications of invalid sentences are ministerial in nature and do not require a resentencing hearing;

however, other modifications require the due process protections of a resentencing hearing.” People v Miles (Dwayne), 454 Mich 90, 98-99 (1997) (noting that “the majority of cases presume that the correction of a sentence found invalid because of inaccuracies in information relied on at sentencing will occur at a resentencing hearing”). “[W]hen the trial court corrects a mistaken sentence and it does not have discretion to sentence a defendant any differently, the defendant is not entitled to a hearing.” People v Howell (Marlon), 300 Mich App 638, 648-651 (2013) (holding that where the defendant’s original judgments of sentence failed to specify that the sentences were to run consecutively the failure was “an omission within the meaning of [MCR 6.435(A)], not a reconsideration within the meaning of [MCR 6.435(B)],” and the defendant’s right to due process did not entitle him to a hearing before correction of his judgments of sentence to reflect the mandatory consecutive nature of the sentences). But see People v Thomas (Roberto), 223 Mich App 9, 15-16 (1997) (holding that the due process afforded by a resentencing hearing is required when a defendant is exposed to a greater possible penalty or when a defendant’s original sentence would be “drastically increased” by the modified sentence, and accordingly, resentencing was required where the trial court corrected concurrent sentences to consecutive sentences).

5. Remedy for Tanner Violation³¹

The proper remedy for a violation of the two-thirds rule in MCL 769.34\(2\)\(b\) and People v Tanner, 387 Mich 683 (1972), is a reduction in the minimum sentence. People v Thomas (Gerry), 447 Mich 390, 392-394 (1994).

E. Preservation of Issues Concerning Sentencing Guidelines Scoring and Challenges Based on Scoring

Note: In People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 365, 399 (2015), the Court held that although “a sentencing court must determine the applicable guidelines range and take it into account when imposing a sentence,” the guidelines “are advisory only.” Because nothing in Lockridge specifically calls into question the standards currently governing appellate review of sentences imposed under the (now advisory) guidelines, it is unclear to what extent all of these standards remain good law.³²

³¹ See the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 2, Chapter 1 for discussion of the Tanner rule.

1. Sentences Within the Guidelines Range

MCL 769.34\(10\) and MCR 6.429\(C\) both provide that “[a] party shall not raise on appeal an issue challenging the scoring of the sentencing guidelines or challenging the accuracy of information relied upon in determining a sentence that is within the appropriate guidelines sentence range unless the party has raised the issue at sentencing, in a proper motion for resentencing, or in a proper motion to remand filed in the court of appeals.” A defendant therefore preserves a sentencing issue for appeal by raising the issue “at sentencing, in a proper motion for resentencing, or in a proper motion to remand filed in the court of appeals.” People v Clark (Tyrone), 315 Mich App 219, 223 (2016), quoting MCR 6.429\(C\). However, “MCL 769.34\(10\) cannot constitutionally be applied to preclude relief for sentencing errors of constitutional magnitude.” People v Conley, 270 Mich App 301, 316-317 (2006) (resentencing required when, even though the defendant’s sentence was within the appropriate guidelines sentence range, the trial court constitutionally erred in considering the defendant’s refusal to admit guilt at sentencing).

“To ignore [a] meritorious sentencing argument based on [a] defendant’s label for his timely motion would [erroneously] exalt form over substance.” People v Pointer-Bey, 321 Mich App 609, 620 n 3 (2017) (“[a]lthough defendant did not title his motion in the trial court as one for resentencing or to correct an invalid sentence under MCR 6.429, he plainly argued that he was not subject to enhanced sentencing,” and he was entitled to have his invalid sentence corrected).

“[W]hen the request to remand will not be ripe for review until after the Court of Appeals has adjudicated the merits, the mandate of a proper motion in MCL 769.34\(10\) is met when a defendant makes a request to remand for resentencing with supporting grounds within his appellate brief.” People v Jackson (Leonard), 487 Mich 783, 800 (2010).

Where the prosecution agreed to recommend a sentence within a certain minimum-sentence range, but the defendant did not agree to a specific sentence range, “the defendant did not bind himself to a particular guidelines range as part of his plea agreement and did not waive his challenges to the offense variable scoring.” People v Osborne, 494 Mich 861, 861 (2013).

³² See, however, People v Steanhouse (Steanhouse I), 313 Mich App 1, 38 (2015) (concluding that “the standards of review traditionally applied to the trial court’s scoring of the variables remain viable after Lockridge], 498 Mich 358]”) (citations omitted).

Resentencing not required. Resentencing is not required “[w]here a scoring error does not alter the appropriate guidelines range,” or “[w]here the trial court has clearly indicated that it would have imposed the same sentence regardless of the scoring error and the sentence falls within the appropriate guidelines range.” People v Francisco, 474 Mich 82, 89 n 8 (2006).

“Under MCL 769.34\(10\), [the appellate courts] may not consider challenges to a sentence based exclusively on proportionality, if the sentence falls within the guidelines.” People v Pratt, 254 Mich App 425, 429-430 (2003). In fact, “a sentence within the guidelines range is presumptively proportionate[.]” People v Powell (Kelly), 278 Mich App 318, 323 (2008). To rebut the presumption, the defendant must show “that there was something unusual about the circumstances of his case that made the sentence disproportionate.” People v McFarlane, 325 Mich App 507, 538 (2018) (rejecting the defendant’s argument that his sentence was not proportionate and amounted to cruel and unusual punishment because his sentence was within the guidelines range).

If the trial court declines to impose an intermediate sanction under MCL 769.34\(4\)\(a\) and instead imposes a prison sentence that is within the recommended minimum sentencing range, the prison sentence “is within the range authorized by law.” People v Schrauben, 314 Mich App 181, 195-196 (2016). Under such circumstances, MCL 769.34\(10\) requires that “the minimum sentence must be affirmed unless there was an error in scoring or the trial court relied on inaccurate information.” Schrauben, 314 Mich App at 195-196 (holding that, “[i]n accordance with the broad language of [People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 365 n 1, 391 (2015)], under [MCL 769.34\(4\)\(a\)], a trial court may, but is no longer required to, impose an intermediate sanction if the upper limit of the recommended minimum sentence range is 18 months or less”).

2. Sentences Outside the Guidelines Range³³

Resentencing is required when a scoring error alters the appropriate guidelines range, even if the initial sentence falls within the corrected range, because if resentencing does not occur, “the defendant will have been given a sentence which stands differently in relationship to the correct guidelines range than may have been the trial court’s intention.” People v Francisco, 474 Mich 82, 89-92 (2006). “[R]equiring resentencing in such circumstances . . . respects the defendant’s right to be sentenced on the basis of the law, [as well as] the trial court’s interest in having defendant serve the sentence that it truly intends.” Id. at 92. See also People v Biddles, 316 Mich App 148, 156 (2016) (noting that a defendant who raises a successful evidentiary challenge to the scoring of the variables, resulting in an alteration of the minimum sentence range, is entitled to resentencing under Francisco, 474 Mich at 89).

MCL 769.34(7) and MCR 6.425(F)(5) authorize defendants to appeal a sentence outside the guidelines range on that basis alone. See also People v Kimble (Richard), 470 Mich 305, 310 (2004) (holding that “a sentence that is outside the appropriate guidelines sentence range, for whatever reason, is appealable regardless of whether the issue was raised at sentencing, in a motion for resentencing, or in a motion to remand”). However, unlike MCL 769.34(10) and MCR 6.429(C) (provisions applicable to appealing sentences within the guidelines), MCL 769.34(7) and MCR 6.425(F)(5), the provisions governing appeals of sentences outside the guidelines, make no mention of preservation requirements. Although the language used in MCL 769.34(7) and MCR 6.425(F)(5) is not identical, they are substantially similar and neither one requires something the other does not:

“If the trial court imposes on a defendant a minimum sentence that is longer or more severe than the appropriate sentence range, as part of the court’s advice of the defendant’s rights concerning appeal, the court shall advise the defendant orally and in writing that he or she may appeal the sentence as provided by law on grounds that it is longer or more severe than the appropriate sentence range.” MCL 769.34\(7\).

³³ Courts are no longer required articulate a substantial and compelling reason when departing from the guidelines range. In 2015, holding that Michigan’s mandatory sentencing guidelines scheme was constitutionally deficient, the Michigan Supreme Court “sever[ed] MCL 769.34(2) to the extent that it is mandatory” and “[struck] down the requirement of a ‘substantial and compelling reason’ to depart from the guidelines range in MCL 769.34(3),” holding that although “a sentencing court must determine the applicable guidelines range and take it into account when imposing a sentence,” the legislative sentencing guidelines “are advisory only.” People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 364-365, 391-392, 399 (2015) (emphasis supplied). A sentencing court has discretion to depart from the guidelines range, and a departure sentence “will be reviewed by an appellate court for reasonableness.” Lockridge, 498 Mich at 392, citing United States v Booker, 543 US 220, 261 (2005) (emphasis supplied).

“When imposing sentence in a case in which sentencing guidelines enacted in . . . MCL 777.1 et seq., are applicable, if the court imposes a minimum sentence that is longer or more severe than the range provided by the sentencing guidelines, the court must advise the defendant on the record and in writing that the defendant may seek appellate review of the sentence, by right if the conviction followed trial or by application if the conviction entered by plea, on the ground that it is longer or more severe than the range provided by the sentencing guidelines.” MCR 6.425\(F\)\(5\).

Waiver. “[P]ursuant to MCL 769.34\(10\) and [Kimble (Richard), 470 Mich at 310-312],” a defendant whose sentence is outside the appropriate guidelines range “is entitled to appeal the matter unless he is deemed to have waived the error at sentencing.” People v Hershey, 303 Mich App 330, 349 (2013). “[T]here are no ‘magic words’ that constitute a waiver, and . . . a waiver analysis should consider the entire context of a defendant’s conduct concerning a purportedly waived issue to determine whether the defendant, in fact, intentionally relinquished a known right.” Id. at 350.

3. Scoring Error and Departure Sentence

As a matter of law, “[i]n cases . . . that involve a minimum sentence that is an upward departure, a defendant necessarily cannot show plain error because the sentencing court has already clearly exercised its discretion to impose a harsher sentence than allowed by the guidelines and expressed its reasons for doing so on the record.” People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 395 n 31 (2015). See also People v Steanhouse (Steanhouse II), 500 Mich 453, 475 (2017) (holding that “departure sentences [are exempted] from [the Crosby] remand procedure, at least for cases in which the error was unpreserved, because a defendant who [has] received an upward departure [cannot] show prejudice resulting from the constraint on the trial court’s sentencing discretion”); People v Ambrose, 317 Mich App 556, 565 (2016) (even assuming an error in scoring the guidelines, the defendant was not entitled to resentencing where a departure sentence was imposed and reasonable “[i]n light of the facts of [the] case, the trial court’s lengthy articulation of its reasons for departing from the guidelines, and the minor extent of the departure”).

The trial court must actually score the guidelines before imposing a departure sentence. See People v Geddert, 500 Mich 859, 859 (2016) (stating “the scoring of the guidelines themselves is mandatory”). Where the trial court failed to score points for any offense variables but departed from the guidelines range in part on the basis of conduct that should have been scored under OV 13, resentencing was required under People v Francisco, 474 Mich 82 (2006); “[e]ven though the guidelines ranges are now advisory[under Lockridge, 498 Mich 358],” resentencing was required “[b]ecause correcting the OV score would change the applicable guidelines range[.]” Geddert, 500 Mich at 859.

4. Constitutional Errors in Calculating Guidelines Scores

In 2015, the Michigan Supreme Court, applying Alleyne v United States, 570 US 99 (2013), and Apprendi v New Jersey, 530 US 466 (2000), held that “Michigan’s sentencing guidelines . . . [are] constitutionally deficient . . . [to] the extent [that they] . . . require judicial fact-finding beyond facts admitted by the defendant or found by the jury to score offense variables (OVs) that mandatorily increase the floor of the guidelines minimum sentence range[.]” People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 364, 399 (2015), rev’g in part 304 Mich App 278 (2014) and overruling People v Herron, 303 Mich App 392 (2013). “To remedy the constitutional violation,” the Lockridge Court “sever[ed] MCL 769.34\(2\) to the extent that it is mandatory” and “[struck] down the requirement of a ‘substantial and compelling reason’ to depart from the guidelines range in MCL 769.34\(3\),” further holding that although “a sentencing court must determine the applicable guidelines range and take it into account when imposing a sentence,” the legislative sentencing guidelines “are advisory only.” Lockridge, 498 Mich at 364-365, 391, 399, citing United States v Booker, 543 US 220, 233, 264 (2005) (emphasis added).

A defendant raising a constitutional guidelines-scoring error based on Lockridge may be entitled to resentencing. See the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook, Vol. 2, Chapter 1 for discussion of appellate review of felony sentences, and specifically, review of claims of constitutional guidelines-scoring error under Lockridge.

1.9 Motion to Correct Mistakes³⁴

In addition to the following discussion, see the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Motion to Correct Mistakes After Judgment Checklist.

A. Clerical Mistakes

“Clerical mistakes in judgments, orders, or other parts of the record and errors arising from oversight or omission may be corrected by the court at any time on its own initiative or on motion of a party, and after notice if the court orders it.” MCR 6.435\(A\). For example, “[a] prison sentence entered on a judgment that is erroneous because the judge misspoke or the clerk made a typing error is correctable under [MCR 6.435\(A\)].” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.435.³⁵

“Under [MCR 6.435\(A\)], a court may correct a clerical mistake on its own initiative at any time, including after a judgment has entered.” People v Comer, 500 Mich 278, 293 (2017). “MCR 6.435\(A\) does not require the trial court to give the defendant a hearing before correcting a clerical error, . . . [and] a defendant’s rights to due process do not require the trial court to give a defendant a hearing before correcting a clerical error under MCR 6.435\(A\).” People v Howell, 300 Mich App 638, 649-650 (2013).

“To determine the nature of a filing, [the Court] look[s] through the party’s labels and focus[es] on the substance of the filing.” People v Beard, ___ Mich App ___, ___ (2019). Where the beginning date of the sentence in the original judgment of sentence was ambiguous, the defendant “was not seeking to correct an invalid sentence imposed by the court but rather was attempting to enforce the imposed sentence,” and under these circumstances, the defendant’s motion was “best viewed as [a] motion to correct a mistake.” Id. at ___ (rejecting the prosecution’s argument that the defendant’s motion should be construed as an untimely motion to correct an invalid sentence and holding that because it was a motion to correct a clerical mistake it could be brought at any time).

³⁴MCR 6.435\(B\) provides that “[a]fter giving the parties an opportunity to be heard, and provided it has not yet entered judgment in the case, the court may reconsider and modify, correct, or rescind any order it concludes was erroneous.” “A substantive mistake is a conclusion or decision that is erroneous, because it is based on a mistaken belief in the facts or the applicable law.” People v Jones (Carlos Lorenzo), 203 Mich App 74, 80 (1993). “[T]he court’s ability to correct substantive mistakes under MCR 6.435\(B\) ends upon entry of the judgment.” People v Comer, 500 Mich 278, 294 (2017). Accordingly, further discussion of this topic is outside the scope of this volume of the benchbook.

³⁵ “[A] staff comment to the Michigan Court Rules is not binding authority.” People v Williams (Carletus), 483 Mich 226, 238 n 15 (2009).

B. Correction of Record

“If a dispute arises as to whether the record accurately reflects what occurred in the trial court, the court, after giving the parties the opportunity to be heard, must resolve the dispute and, if necessary, order the record to be corrected.” MCR 6.435\(C\).

C. Correction During Appeal

“If a claim of appeal has been filed or leave to appeal granted in the case, corrections under [\[MCR 6.435\]](#) are subject to MCR 7.208\(A\)^[36] and [\[MCR 7.208\(B\)\]](#)³⁷.” MCR 6.435\(D\).

1.10 Motion to Amend Restitution

“The court may amend an order of restitution entered under this section on a motion filed by the prosecuting attorney, the victim, or the defendant based upon new or updated information related to the injury, damages, or loss for which the restitution was ordered.” MCR 6.430\(A\).

MCR 6.430 applies to felony and misdemeanor cases. MCR 6.001\(A\)-\(B\).

A. Filing

“The moving party must file the motion and a copy of the motion with the clerk of the court in which the defendant was convicted and sentenced. Upon receipt of a motion, the clerk shall file it under the same case number as the original conviction. If an appeal is pending when the motion is filed, the moving party must serve a copy on the appellate court.” MCR 6.430\(B\).

B. Service and Notice of Hearing

“If the defendant is the moving party, he/she shall serve a copy of the motion and notice of its filing on the prosecuting attorney and the prosecutor shall then serve a copy of the motion and notice upon the victim.” MCR 6.430\(C\).

“If the prosecutor is the moving party, he/she shall serve a copy of the motion and notice of its filing on the defendant and the victim.” MCR 6.430\(C\).

³⁶See Section 1.2 for more information on MCR 7.208\(A\).

³⁷See Section 1.3 for more information on MCR 7.208\(B\).

“If the victim is the moving party, he/she shall serve a copy of the motion and notice of its filing on the defendant and the prosecutor.” MCR 6.430\(C\).

“The home address, home telephone number, work address, and work telephone number of the victim, if included on a motion to amend restitution, is nonpublic.” MCR 6.430\(C\).

“The non-moving party is permitted but not required to respond. Any response to the motion shall comply with the time for service of the response as provided in MCR 2.119\(C\)\(2\).” MCR 6.430\(C\).

“The court shall provide written notice of hearing on the motion to the defendant and prosecutor. The prosecutor shall then serve notice of hearing upon the victim.” MCR 6.430\(C\).

C. Appearance

“As permitted by MCR 6.006\(A\), the court may allow the defendant to appear by two-way interactive video technology to conduct the proceeding between a courtroom and a prison, jail, or other location.” MCR 6.430\(D\).

D. Ruling

“The court, in writing, shall enter an appropriate order disposing of the motion and, if the motion is granted, enter an order amending the restitution. If an appeal was pending when the motion was filed, the moving party must provide a copy of the order to the appellate court.” MCR 6.430\(E\).

E. Appeal

“An appeal from this subsection is processed as provided by MCR 7.100 et seq., and [\[MCR\] 7.200 et seq.](#)” MCR 6.430\(F\).

2.1 In General

“It is the intent of the legislature that the granting of probation is a matter of grace conferring no vested right to its continuance.” MCL 771.4. “If during the probation period the sentencing court determines that the probationer is likely again to engage in an offensive or criminal course of conduct or that the public good requires revocation of probation, the court may revoke probation.” Id. “All probation orders are revocable in any manner the court that imposed probation considers applicable either for a violation or attempted violation of a probation condition or for any other type of antisocial conduct or action on the probationer’s part for which the court determines that revocation is proper in the public interest.” Id.

“Probation is a matter of grace, not of right, and the trial court has broad discretion in determining the conditions to impose as part of probation.” People v Breeding, 284 Mich App 471, 479-480 (2009). “Therefore, when a judge imposes probation, it is ‘revocable on the basis of a judge’s findings of fact at an informal hearing, and largely at the judge’s discretion.’” Id. at 480, quoting People v Harper, 479 Mich 599, 626 (2007). “[T]he scope of a probation violation hearing is limited and . . . a probationer’s rights at a probation violation hearing are not as broad as the rights afforded to a defendant in a criminal trial.” Breeding, 284 Mich App at 480.

“A convicted defendant has no vested right in the continuance of his probation if he violates its conditions.” People v Ritter, 186 Mich App 701, 707 (1991). “The probation statutes confer upon the sentencing court a broad range of discretionary power in handling all aspects of the probationary process.” Id. at 707-708. MCL 771.4 “must be construed to authorize the sentencing court to revoke a defendant’s probation, limited only by the requirements that the decision to revoke be based on violations which occur during the probationary period.” Ritter, 186 Mich App at 708.

“[A] judge who sentences a defendant to probation retains jurisdiction over the case in all subsequent proceedings, including revocation of probation.” People v Manser, 172 Mich App 485, 487 (1988). “The underlying policy is simply to insure that revocation will be considered by the judge who is most acquainted with the matter.” Id. at 487, quoting People v Clemons (Alvin), 116 Mich App 601, 604 (1981).

“[V]iolation of probation is not a crime, and a ruling that probation has been violated is not a new conviction.” People v Kaczmarek, 464 Mich 478, 482 (2001). “If a judge finds that a probationer violated his probation by committing an offense, the probationer is neither burdened with a new conviction nor exposed to punishment other than that to which he was already exposed” Id. at 483, quoting People v Johnson (Eddie), 191 Mich App 222, 226 (1991). “Instead, revocation of probation simply clears the way for a resentencing on the original offense.” Kaczmarek, 464 Mich at 483.

“In [probation violation] proceedings, the focus is on whether one who has already been convicted of a crime violated a term of probation, and whether probation should be revoked.” Johnson (Eddie), 191 Mich App at 225-226. “Because of the limited nature and scope of a probation violation hearing, as a practical matter the prosecutor may not present all the evidence bearing on the commission of the alleged offense.” Id. at 226. “The determination whether one committed an offense for the purpose of a new conviction should be made in a criminal trial, which is the intended forum for such a determination, and not in an informal, summary proceeding.” Id. “The principles of collateral estoppel . . . should not be permitted to preclude such a determination following a probation violation decision adverse to the people.” Id. Additionally, “further criminal proceedings [following a probation violation hearing] [do not] violate the Double Jeopardy Clause.” Id. at 226-227 (“‘Jeopardy’ within the meaning of the constitutional double jeopardy provision requires a criminal prosecution in a court of justice . . . [and] [a] probation violation hearing is not a criminal prosecution.”).

2.2 Issuance of Summons; Warrant

“On finding probable cause to believe that a probationer has violated a condition of probation, the court may

(1) issue a summons^[1] in accordance with MCR 6.103\(B\)^[2] and [\[MCR 6.103\(C\)\]](#)^[3] for the probationer to appear for arraignment on the alleged violation or,

(2) issue a warrant for the arrest of the probationer.” MCR 6.445\(A\).^[4]

¹See Motion and Summons Regarding Probation Violation, MC 246.

²MCR 6.103\(B\) provides that “[a] summons must contain the same information as an arrest warrant, except that it should summon the accused to appear before a designated court at a stated time and place.”

³MCR 6.103\(C\) provides that “[a] summons may be served by (1) delivering a copy to the named individual; or (2) leaving a copy with a person of suitable age and discretion at the individual’s home or usual place or abode; or (3) mailing a copy to the individual’s last known address. Service should be made promptly to give the accused adequate notice of the appearance date. The person serving the summons must make a return to the court before which the person is summoned to appear.”

“An arrested probationer must promptly be brought before the court for arraignment on the alleged violation.” MCR 6.445\(A\).

“The Michigan statutory scheme governing probation and Michigan caselaw recognize that a probation revocation must occur, or must at least have been commenced, during the probation period.” People v Glass, 288 Mich App 399, 403, 405 (2010) (“The term ‘probation period’ in MCL 771.4 refers to the specific probation term that the sentencing court has imposed on a particular defendant.”). MCL 771.4 “require[s] only that during the probation period the court find that probable cause exists to believe that the defendant has violated probation in order to justify issuance of a petition to revoke probation and a warrant for the defendant’s arrest.” People v Ritter, 186 Mich App 701, 708 (1991). Additionally, “there is no[] . . . requirement that the warrant be executed, in other words, that a defendant receive notice of the revocation proceedings, before the period of probation expires in order for the court to retain jurisdiction.” Id. at 709.

“[A] defendant’s period of probation is tolled when he [or she] absconds from probationary supervision.” Ritter, 186 Mich App at 711. “An absconding defendant should not be allowed to benefit from his wrongful noncompliance with the terms of his probation order.” Id. at 711-712 (“trial court properly revoked defendant’s probation because revocation proceedings were pending when the normal term of defendant’s probation would have expired and because defendant’s period of probation was tolled when he absconded from probationary supervision”).

“[O]nce a warrant for probation violation has been issued, the probation authorities must exercise due diligence in executing it.” People v Ortman, 209 Mich App 251, 254, 257 (1995). “If there is a determination that the probation authorities did not act with reasonable dispatch under all the circumstances, then there is a waiver of the probation violation.” Id. (“Because the probation authorities did not exercise due diligence in executing the warrant, the probation violation should have been waived.”).

2.3 Arraignment on the Charge

“At the arraignment on the alleged probation violation, the court must

- (1) ensure that the probationer receives written notice of the alleged violation,
- (2) advise the probationer that
 - (a) the probationer has a right to contest the charge at a hearing, and

(b) the probationer is entitled to a lawyer's assistance at the hearing and at all subsequent court proceedings, and that the court will appoint a lawyer at public expense if the probationer wants one and is financially unable to retain one,

(3) if requested and appropriate, appoint a lawyer,

(4) determine what form of release, if any, is appropriate, and

(5) subject to [MCR 6.445(C)⁵], set a reasonably prompt hearing date or postpone the hearing." MCR 6.445(B).

"[A] probationer at a revocation proceeding has the right to counsel." People v Kitley, 59 Mich App 71, 73 (1975). The trial court must advise the defendant of the right to be represented by either appointed or retained counsel. Id.

"[D]ue process . . . require[s] the trial court, at the very least, to specifically inform each defendant that, as an alternative to pleading guilty, he has the right to a hearing in which he will have an opportunity to contest the charges against him." People v Edwards, 125 Mich App 831, 833 (1983). "Failure to so inform the defendant requires reversal absent direct and affirmative proof that the defendant was aware that he had such a right and that it would be waived by a plea of guilty." Id.

See also the Michigan Judicial Institute's probation violation Arraignment Checklist.

2.4 Timing of Hearing

"The hearing of a probationer being held in custody for an alleged probation violation must be held within 14 days after the arraignment or the court must order the probationer released from that custody pending the hearing." MCR 6.445(C). "If the alleged violation is based on a criminal offense that is a basis for a separate criminal prosecution, the court may postpone the hearing for the outcome of that prosecution." Id.

2.5 Continuing Duty to Advise of Right to Assistance of Lawyer

"Even though a probationer charged with probation violation has waived the assistance of a lawyer, at each subsequent proceeding the court must comply with the advice and waiver procedure in MCR

⁵See Section 2.4 for more information on MCR 6.445\(C\).

6.005(E).” MCR 6.445(D). See also People v McKinnie, 197 Mich App 458, 460 (1992).

“If a defendant has waived the assistance of a lawyer, the record of each subsequent proceeding . . . need show only that the court advised the defendant of the continuing right to a lawyer’s assistance (at public expense if the defendant is indigent) and that the defendant waived that right.” MCR 6.005(E). “Before the court begins such proceedings,

- (1) the defendant must reaffirm that a lawyer’s assistance is not wanted; or
- (2) if the defendant requests a lawyer and is financially unable to retain one, the court must appoint one; or
- (3) if the defendant wants to retain a lawyer and has the financial ability to do so, the court must allow the defendant a reasonable opportunity to retain one.” Id.

“The court may refuse to adjourn a proceeding to appoint counsel or allow a defendant to retain counsel if an adjournment would significantly prejudice the prosecution, and the defendant has not been reasonably diligent in seeking counsel.” Id.

“A defendant has limited due process rights with regard to a revocation hearing.” McKinnie, 197 Mich App at 460-461. “The right to counsel, however, is fundamental and compliance with MCR 6.005(E) must be strict.” McKinnie, 197 Mich App at 461 (defendant’s judgment of sentence for probation violation vacated where the trial court did not comply with MCR 6.445 and MCR 6.005(E)).

“Because the advice and waiver procedures for subsequent proceedings are specifically referenced in MCR 6.445(D), but the advice and waiver procedures for initial criminal hearings are not referred to at all in the rest of the rule, it appears clear that the procedural safeguards set forth in MCR 6.005(D)⁶ were deliberately omitted for probation revocation cases.” People v Belanger, 227 Mich App 637, 646 (1998). “[D]ue process is satisfied in a probation revocation proceeding if a trial court advises a defendant of his right to counsel and the appointment of counsel, if he is indigent, and determines that there is a knowing and intelligent waiver of that right.” Id. at 647. “Factors to be considered when deciding whether [a] defendant ha[s] made a knowing waiver of his right to counsel are defendant's age, education, prior criminal experience, mental state, financial condition, and the various factors, pressures or inducements which led him to admit the allegations against him without the assistance of counsel." People v Kitley, 59 Mich App 71, 76 (1975).

2.6 The Violation Hearing

In addition to the following discussion, see the Michigan Judicial Institute's probation violation Contested Hearing Checklist.

A. Procedure

"Hearings on the revocation shall be summary and informal and not subject to the rules of evidence or of pleadings applicable in criminal trials." MCL 771.4. "In its probation order or by general rule, the court may provide for the apprehension, detention, and confinement of a probationer accused of violating a probation condition or conduct inconsistent with the public good." Id. "The method of hearing and presentation of charges are within the court's discretion, except that the probationer is entitled to a written copy of the charges constituting the claim that he or she violated probation and to a probation revocation hearing." Id.

MCL 771.4 "places an affirmative obligation on the trial court to . . . provide the probationer with a written copy of the charges constituting the probation violation and to conduct a probation revocation hearing." People v Hendrick, 472 Mich 555, 562 (2005). "A defendant is entitled to receive written notice of a probation violation sufficiently in advance of the scheduled revocation hearing to allow him a reasonable opportunity to prepare his defense." People v Irving, 116 Mich App 147, 151 (1982).

B. Conduct of the Hearing

"The evidence against the probationer must be disclosed to the probationer." MCR 6.445\(E\)\(1\). "The probationer has the right to be present at the hearing, to present evidence, and to examine and cross-examine witnesses." Id. "The court may consider only evidence that is relevant to the violation alleged, but it need not apply the rules of evidence except those pertaining to privileges." Id. "The state has the burden of proving a violation by a preponderance of the evidence." Id.

"Probation violation hearings are summary and informal and are not subject to the rules of evidence or of pleading applicable in a criminal trial." People v Pillar, 233 Mich App 267, 269 (1998). "The scope of these proceedings is limited and the full panoply of constitutional rights applicable in a criminal trial do not attach.” Id. “However, probationers are afforded certain due process at violation hearings because of the potential for loss of liberty.” Id. “Specifically, a probationer has the right to a procedure consisting of (1) a factual determination that the probationer is in fact guilty of violating probation, and (2) a discretionary determination of whether the violation warrants revocation.” Id. “[O]nly evidence relating to the charged probation violation activity may be considered at a violation hearing and only such evidence may provide the basis for a decision to revoke one’s probation.” Id. at 270 (trial judge erroneously considered evidence unrelated to the charged probation violation in decision to revoke the defendant’s probation).

“A trial court’s discretionary authority regarding the admission of evidence at a probation revocation hearing is broad.” People v Breeding, 284 Mich App 471, 479 (2009). “Except for the rules of evidence pertaining to privileges, a trial court ‘need not apply the rules of evidence’ in a probation revocation hearing.” Breeding, 284 Mich App at 479, quoting MCR 6.445(E)(1). “Probationers in Michigan have a right to confront witnesses in a probation revocation hearing pursuant to MCR 6.445(E)(1).” Breeding, 284 Mich App at 483.⁷ “In addition, probationers also have certain due process rights at such a hearing because of the potential loss of liberty.” Id. “The liberty interest brings the probationer within the protection of the Fourteenth Amendment, even though revocation is not a stage of a criminal prosecution.” Id. “Furthermore, the due process rights applicable to a probation revocation hearing allow for procedures that are more flexible than those required during a criminal prosecution.” Id. at 483-484. “[T]he process [of admitting evidence at a probation revocation hearing] should be flexible enough to consider evidence including letters, affidavits, and other material that would not be admissible in an adversary criminal trial.” Id. at 484, quoting Morrissey v Brewer, 408 US 471, 489 (1972).

In Morrissey, 408 US 471, 485-489, the United States Supreme Court instructed that there are “two important stages in the typical process of parole revocation[:]:” (1) the arrest of the parolee and preliminary hearing and (2) the revocation hearing. (Emphasis added.) In Gagnon v Scarpelli, 411 US 778 (1973), the United States Supreme Court

⁷“In Crawford v Washington, 541 US 36 (2004), the [United States Supreme] Court held that in a criminal prosecution, the introduction of an out-of-court testimonial statement is precluded unless the witness is unavailable and the defendant has previously had an opportunity to cross-examine the witness.” People v Breeding, 284 Mich App 471, 480 (2009). However, “the Sixth Amendment right to confrontation, as defined and applied in Crawford, does not apply to probation revocation proceedings.” Breeding, 284 Mich App at 482. “Rather, a due process standard applies in determining the admissibility of statements made by out-of-court declarants at probation violation proceedings, regardless of whether the statements are testimonial or nontestimonial in nature.” Id.

“extended the Morrissey due process requirements to probation revocation proceedings.” People v Jackson (Leroy), 63 Mich App 241, 245 (1975). However, “Michigan’s judicial warrant procedure coupled with the strict due process requirements of the revocation hearing is constitutionally equal or superior to the preliminary ‘minimal inquiry’ hearing and final revocation hearing procedure required by Morrissey and Gagnon.” Jackson (Leroy), 63 Mich App at 248 (“[i]n conjunction with a preliminary determination of probable cause, Michigan requires a revocation hearing which far exceeds the minimal due process requirements set forth in Morrissey and Gagnon”).

“Th[e] fundamental privilege against compulsory self-incrimination accompanies a criminal defendant throughout the entire course of every criminal prosecution, including both sentencing and any subsequent probation revocation proceeding.” People v Manser, 172 Mich App 485, 488 (1988) (“it was error for the trial court to call upon defendant where defendant had not testified or otherwise first waived the privilege [against self-incrimination]”).

C. Judicial Findings

“At the conclusion of the hearing, the court must make findings in accordance with MCR 6.403.” MCR 6.445\(E\)\(2\). MCR 6.403 provides, in relevant part, that “[t]he court must find the facts specially, state separately its conclusions of law, and direct entry of the appropriate judgment[; t]he court must state its findings and conclusions on the record or in a written opinion made a part of the record.” See Order Following Probation Violation Hearing, MC 433.

“A trial court must base its decision that a probation violation was proven on verified facts in the record.” People v Breeding, 284 Mich App 471, 487 (2009). “The evidence, viewed in a light most favorable to the prosecution, must be sufficient to enable a rational trier of fact to find a probation violation by a preponderance of the evidence.” Id. “Where a resolution of a factual issue turns on the credibility of witnesses or the weight of evidence, deference is given to the trial court’s resolution of these issues.” Id.

“[P]robation may not be revoked solely on the basis that the probationer was arrested.” People v Pillar, 233 Mich App 267, 269 (1998). “There must be verified facts in the record from which the court can find by a preponderance of the evidence that a violation was committed.” Id. at 270.

“The standard of proof in a probation revocation hearing is less than in a regular criminal trial.” People v Tebedo, 107 Mich App 316, 320 (1981). “When revocation is sought on the basis of a subsequent violation of the criminal law, there must be proof sufficient to allow the court to find by the preponderance of the evidence that defendant committed the new offense.” Id. at 320-321. “There must be sufficient proof on each element of the offense.” Id. at 321. “Because the standard of proof is lower than the reasonable doubt standard employed in a criminal trial, probation may be revoked before the trial on the substantive offense, and a decision to revoke probation will be valid even if the defendant is ultimately acquitted of the substantive crime.” Id. “For the same reasons, the subsequent reversal of a conviction on a criminal offense would not require vacation of a probation revocation which was based on that offense if the testimony or the defendant’s admissions at the revocation hearing were sufficient to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant committed the offense.” Id.

“If a probationer is ordered to pay costs as part of a sentence of probation, compliance with that order shall be a condition of probation.” MCL 771.3\(8\). “The court may revoke probation if the probationer fails to comply with the order and if the probationer has not made a good faith effort to comply with the order.” Id. “In determining whether to revoke probation, the court shall consider the probationer’s employment status, earning ability, and financial resources, the willfulness of the probationer’s failure to pay, and any other special circumstances that may have a bearing on the probationer’s ability to pay.” Id. “The proceedings provided for in [MCL 771.3\(8\)] are in addition to those provided in [MCL 771.4].” MCL 771.3\(8\).

“[MCL 769.1k\(1\)⁸ and MCL 769.1k\(2\)⁹] apply even if the defendant is placed on probation, probation is revoked, or the defendant is discharged from probation.” MCL 769.1k\(3\).

If the defendant is placed on probation, any restitution ordered under MCL 769.1a, MCL 780.766, and/or MCL 780.826 must be a condition of that probation. MCL 769.1a\(11\); MCL 780.766\(11\); MCL 780.826\(11\). The court may revoke probation if the defendant fails to comply with the order and if the defendant has not made a good faith effort to comply with the order. MCL 769.1a\(11\); MCL 780.766\(11\); MCL 780.826\(11\). In determining whether to revoke probation, the court must consider the defendant’s employment status, earning ability, and financial resources, the willfulness of the defendant’s failure to pay, and any other special circumstances that may have a bearing on the defendant's ability to pay. MCL 769.1a\(11\); MCL 780.766\(11\); MCL 780.826\(11\). However, a defendant must not be imprisoned, jailed, or incarcerated for a violation of probation or otherwise for failure to pay restitution as ordered unless the court determines that the defendant has the resources to pay the ordered restitution and has not made a good faith effort to do so. MCL 769.1a\(14\); MCL 780.766\(14\); MCL 780.826\(14\).

⁸MCL 769.1k\(1\) requires the court to impose the minimum state costs as set out in MCL 769.1j, and allows the court to impose any authorized fines, any authorized costs, and any cost reasonably related to the actual costs incurred by the trial court.

2.7 Pleas of Guilty

"The probationer may, at the arraignment or afterward, plead guilty to the violation." MCR 6.445\(F\). See the Michigan Judicial Institute's probation violation Plea Checklist.

"Before accepting a guilty plea, the court, speaking directly to the probationer and receiving the probationer's response, must

- (1) advise the probationer that by pleading guilty the probationer is giving up the right to a contested hearing and, if the probationer is proceeding without legal representation, the right to a lawyer's assistance as set forth in [MCR 6.445\(B\)\(2\)\(b\)]¹⁰,
- (2) advise the probationer of the maximum possible jail or prison sentence for the offense,
- (3) ascertain that the plea is understandingly, voluntarily, and accurately made, and
- (4) establish factual support for a finding that the probationer is guilty of the alleged violation." MCR 6.445\(F\).

"[D]ue process . . . require[s] the trial court, at the very least, to specifically inform each defendant that, as an alternative to pleading guilty, he has the right to a hearing in which he will have an opportunity to contest the charges against him." People v Edwards, 125 Mich App 831, 833 (1983). "Failure to so inform the defendant requires reversal absent direct and affirmative proof that the defendant was aware that he had such a right and that it would be waived by a plea of guilty." Id. See People v Alame, 129 Mich App 686, 689-690 (1983) (Court of Appeals construed former GCR 1963, 791.5, which contained language substantially similar to MCR 6.445\(F\), and held that "failure to follow the clear mandates of the rule . . . cannot produce an understanding, knowing, or voluntary plea" such as where "the trial court did not advise

¹⁰MCR 6.445\(B\)\(2\)\(b\) requires the court to "advise the probationer that . . . the probationer is entitled to a lawyer's assistance at the hearing and at all subsequent court proceedings, and that the court will appoint a lawyer at public expense if the probationer wants one and is financially unable to retain one[.]"

defendant of the maximum possible sentence he might receive as a result of his plea [and] did not adequately advise the defendant of his right to a hearing . . . or advise defendant that he was giving up his right to a contested hearing before accepting defendant’s plea”).

If “[t]he trial court [does] not secure an adequate factual basis to support acceptance of [a] guilty plea” under MCR 6.445\(F\)\(4\), remand is appropriate to allow “the prosecutor an opportunity to establish a factual basis to support the plea.” People v McCullough, 462 Mich 857 (2000). “If the prosecutor establishes a factual basis and no contrary evidence exists, defendant’s conviction shall stand.” Id. “If the prosecutor is unable to establish that defendant violated a condition of probation, the trial court shall vacate the order revoking defendant’s probation.” Id. “If contrary evidence is produced, the trial court shall treat the matter as a motion to withdraw the plea, and decide the matter in the exercise of its discretion.” Id.

2.8 Sentencing

“The court may investigate and enter a disposition of the probationer as the court determines best serves the public interest.” MCL 771.4. “If a probation order is revoked, the court may sentence the probationer in the same manner and to the same penalty as the court might have done if the probation order had never been made.” Id.

“If the court finds that the probationer has violated a condition of probation, or if the probationer pleads guilty to a violation, the court may continue probation, modify the conditions of probation, extend the probation period, or revoke probation and impose a sentence of incarceration.” MCR 6.445\(G\). Alternatively, an eligible probationer may be sentenced to temporary incarceration for a technical probation violation. See Section 2.11 for more information. “The court may not sentence the probationer to prison without having considered a current presentence report and may not sentence the probationer to prison or jail (including for failing to pay fines, costs, restitution, and other financial obligations imposed by the court) without having complied with the provisions set forth in MCR 6.425\(B\)^[11] and [MCR 6.425\(E\)]^[12].” MCR 6.445\(G\). See People v Hawkins, 500 Mich 987 (2017) (Michigan Supreme Court vacated the defendant’s sentence and remanded for resentencing where “[t]here [wa]s no indication in the record that, at sentencing, the trial court considered an updated Sentencing Information Report, or applicable guidelines range, in imposing its sentence following the defendant’s probation violations”).

¹¹MCR 6.425\(B\) concerns disclosure of the presentence report before sentencing.

¹²MCR 6.425\(E\) concerns sentencing procedure.

Sentencing guidelines.¹³ “[T]he [legislative] sentencing guidelines apply to sentence imposed after a probation violation and . . . acts giving rise to the probation violation may constitute substantial and compelling reasons to depart from the guidelines.” People v Hendrick, 472 Mich 555, 557 (2005). “MCL 771.4 states that if probation is revoked, the court may sentence the probationer to the same penalty as if probation had never been granted, but does not require that the same penalty be imposed.” Hendrick, 472 Mich at 557 (emphasis in original). “Thus, the sentencing court is not precluded from considering events surrounding the probation violation when sentencing the defendant on the original offense.” Id. Hendrick applies retroactively. People v Parker (Charles), 267 Mich App 319, 328 (2005). However, “the holding in Hendrick is not applicable when probation is [not revoked, but is instead] continued, modified, or extended pursuant to MCR 6.445(G).” People v Malinowski, 301 Mich App 182, 187 (2013).

2.9 Review¹⁴

“In a case involving a sentence of incarceration under [MCR 6.445(G)¹⁵], the court must advise the probationer on the record, immediately after imposing sentence, that

- (a) the probationer has a right to appeal, if the underlying conviction occurred as a result of a trial, or
- (b) the probationer is entitled to file an application for leave to appeal, if the underlying conviction was the result of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere.” MCR 6.445(H)(1).

“In a case that involves a sentence other than incarceration under [MCR 6.445(G)], the court must advise the probationer on the record, immediately after imposing sentence, that the probationer is entitled to file an application for leave to appeal.” MCR 6.445(H)(2).

¹³ In People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 391 (2015), the Michigan Supreme Court “[struck] down the requirement of a ‘substantial and compelling reason’ to depart from the guidelines range in MCL 769.34(3).” The Lockridge Court additionally stated that “[t]o the extent that any part of MCL 769.34 or another statute refers to use of the sentencing guidelines as mandatory or refers to departures from the guidelines, that part or statute is also severed or struck down as necessary.” Lockridge, 498 Mich at 365 n 1, emphasis supplied. The Lockridge Court did not specifically address intermediate sanctions such as probation.

¹⁴“An appeal from a misdemeanor case is governed by [MCR 7.100 et seq.]” MCR 6.625(A).

¹⁵See Section 2.8 for information on MCR 6.445(G).

“[T]he subsequent reversal of a criminal conviction on which a probation violation is based does not require reversal of the probation revocation if (1) at the revocation hearing defendant admitted facts sufficient to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that he committed the offense, or (2) if testimony is presented at the revocation hearing which meets this same standard.” People v Tebedo, 107 Mich App 316, 322 (1981). “If the only thing established at the hearing is that defendant was convicted of the offense, then reversal of that conviction requires reversal of the probation revocation as well.” Id.

2.10 Violation of Sex Offenders Registration Act

“The court shall revoke probation pursuant to [MCL 771.4] if the individual willfully violates the sex offenders registration act.” MCL 771.4a.

2.11 Technical Probation Violation

“Except as otherwise provided in [MCL 771.4b], beginning on January 1, 2018, a probationer who commits a technical probation violation and is sentenced to temporary incarceration in a state or local correctional or detention facility may be incarcerated for a maximum of 30 days for each technical violation.” MCL 771.4b(1). “A probationer must not be given credit for any time served on a previous technical violation.” Id. “After a probationer serves the period of temporary incarceration under [MCL 771.4b], he or she may be returned to probation under the terms of his or her original probation order or under a new probation order at the discretion of the court.” MCL 771.4b(1). However, MCL 771.4b(1) is not applicable to a probationer who is on probation for a domestic violence violation of MCL 750.81, MCL 750.81a, MCL 750.411h, or MCL 750.411i. MCL 771.4b(6).

“The limit on temporary incarceration under [MCL 771.4b(1)] does not apply to a probationer who has committed 3 or more technical probation violations during the course of his or her probation.” MCL 771.4b(2).

“The court may extend the period of temporary incarceration under [MCL 771.4b(1)] to not more than 90 days if a probationer has been ordered to attend a treatment program as part of his or her probation but for which a treatment bed is not currently available; however, the period of temporary incarceration imposed under [MCL 771.4b(1)] must not extend beyond 90 days.” MCL 771.4b(3).

“[MCL 771.4b] does not prohibit the court from revoking a probationer’s probation and sentencing the probationer under [MCL 771.4] for a probation violation, including, but not limited to, a technical probation violation at any time during the course of probation.” MCL 771.4b\(4\).

“If more than 1 technical probation violation arises out of the same transaction, the court shall treat the technical probation violations as a single technical probation violation for purposes of [\[MCL 771.4b\]](#).” MCL 771.4b\(5\).

2.12 Revoking Probation of Juvenile for Conviction of Felony or Misdemeanor

“If the court finds that a juvenile placed on probation and committed under [\[MCL 769.1\(3\)\]](#) or MCL 769.1\(4\) (governing automatic waiver cases) to an institution or agency described in the youth rehabilitation services act, [\[MCL 803.301 et seq.\]](#), violated probation by being convicted of a felony or a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for more than 1 year, the court shall revoke probation and order the juvenile committed to the department of corrections for a term of years that does not exceed the penalty that could have been imposed for the offense for which the juvenile was originally convicted and placed on probation.” MCL 771.7\(1\). “The court shall grant credit against the sentence for the period of time the juvenile served on probation.” Id.

“If the court finds that a juvenile placed on probation and committed under [\[MCL 769.1\(3\)\]](#) or MCL 769.1\(4\) to an institution or agency described in the youth rehabilitation services act, [\[MCL 803.301 et seq.\]](#), violated probation other than as provided in [\[MCL 771.7\(1\)\]](#), the court may order the juvenile committed to the department of corrections or may order any of the following for the juvenile:

- (a) A change of placement.
- (b) Community service.
- (c) Substance abuse counseling.
- (d) Mental health counseling.
- (e) Participation in a vocational-technical education program.
- (f) Incarceration in a county jail for not more than 30 days. If a juvenile is under 17 years of age, the juvenile shall be placed in a room or ward out of sight and sound from adult prisoners.
- (g) Other participation or performance as the court considers necessary.” MCL 771.7\(2\).

2.13 Probation Swift and Sure Sanctions Act

“The swift and sure sanctions probation program (SSSPP) is an intensive probation supervision program that targets high-risk felony offenders with a history of probation violations or failures. . . . SSSPP participants are closely monitored, including being subjected to frequent random testing for drug and alcohol use and being required to attend frequent meetings with probation and/or case management staff. SSSPP aims to improve probationer success by promptly imposing graduated sanctions, including small amounts of jail time, for probation violations. Judges in Michigan’s SSSPP courts have reported a reduction in positive drug tests and failures to appear at scheduled meetings with probation officers among their SSSPP participant population.” See <http://courts.mi.gov/Administration/admin/op/problem-solving-courts/Pages/Swift-and-Sure-Sanctions-Probation-Program.aspx>.

“The circuit court in any judicial circuit may adopt or institute a swift and sure sanctions court, by statute or court rule.” MCL 600.1086\(1\). “A swift and sure sanctions court shall carry out the purposes of the swift and sure sanctions act, [MCL 771A.1 et seq.]” MCL 600.1086\(2\).

A. Intent to Create and Implementation

“It is the intent of the legislature to create a voluntary state program to fund swift and sure probation supervision based on the immediate detection of probation violations and the prompt imposition of sanctions and remedies to address those violations.” MCL 771A.3. “In furtherance of this intent, the state swift and sure sanctions program must be implemented and maintained as provided in [MCL 771A.1 et seq.] as follows:

- (a) Probationers are to be sentenced with prescribed terms of probation meeting the objectives of [MCL 771A.1 et seq.]. Probationers are to be aware of their probation terms as well as the consequences for violating the terms of their probation.
- (b) Probationers are to be closely monitored and every detected violation is to be promptly addressed by the court.
- (c) Probationers are to be arrested as soon as a violation has been detected and are to be promptly taken before a judge for a hearing on the violation.
- (d) Continued violations are to be addressed by increasing sanctions and remedies as necessary to achieve results.

(e) To the extent possible and considering local resources, probationers subject to swift and sure probation under [MCL 771A.1 et seq.] shall be treated uniformly throughout this state.” MCL 771A.3.

B. Grants

“A court may apply for a grant to fund a program of swift and sure probation supervision under [MCL 771A.1 et seq.] by filing a written application with the state court administrative office in the manner required by that office.” MCL 771A.4(3).

C. Participants From Other Jurisdictions

“A court that has received a grant under [MCL 771A.1 et seq.] to fund programs of swift and sure probation supervision may accept participants from any other jurisdiction in this state based upon either the residence of the participant in the receiving jurisdiction or the unavailability of a swift and sure probation supervision program in the jurisdiction where the participant is charged.” MCL 771A.4(4). “The transfer may occur at any time during the proceedings, including, but not limited to, prior to adjudication.” Id. “The receiving court shall have jurisdiction to impose sentence, including, but not limited to, sanctions, incentives, incarceration, and phase changes.” Id. “A transfer under [MCL 771A.4(4)] is not valid unless it is agreed to by all of the following individuals:

- (a) The defendant or respondent in writing.
- (b) The attorney representing the defendant or respondent.
- (c) The judge of the transferring court and the prosecutor of the case.
- (d) The judge of the receiving court and the prosecutor of the receiving court funding unit.” Id. See also MCL 600.1086(3).

D. Duties of Judge

“A judge shall do all of the following if swift and sure probation applies to a probationer:

- (a) Inform the probationer in person of the requirements of his or her probation and the sanctions and remedies that may apply to probation violations.

(b) Adhere to and not depart from the prescribed list of sanctions and remedies imposed on the probationer.

(c) Require the probationer to initially meet in person with a probation agent or probation officer and as otherwise required by the court.

(d) Provide for an appearance before the judge or another judge for any probation violation as soon as possible but within 72 hours after the violation is reported to the court unless a departure from the 72-hour requirement is authorized for good cause as determined by criteria established by the state court administrative office.

(e) Provide for the immediate imposition of sanctions and remedies approved by the state court administrative office to effectively address probation violations. The sanctions and remedies approved under this subdivision may include, but are not limited to, 1 or more of the following:

(i) Temporary incarceration in a jail or other facility authorized by law to hold probation violators.

(ii) Extension of the period of supervision within the period provided by law.

(iii) Additional reporting and compliance requirements.

(iv) Testing for the use of drugs and alcohol.

(v) Counseling and treatment for emotional or other mental health problems, including for substance abuse.

(vi) Probation revocation.

(vii) Any other sanction approved by the state court administrative office.” MCL 771A.5\(1\).

E. Power of the State Court Administrative Office

“The state court administrative office may, under the supervision of the supreme court, do any of the following regarding programs funded under [MCL 771A.1 et seq.]:

(a) Establish general eligibility requirements for offender participation.

- (b) Require courts and offenders to enter into written participation agreements.
- (c) Create recommended and mandatory sanctions and remedies for use by participating courts.
- (d) Establish criteria for deviating from recommended and mandatory sanctions and remedies if necessary to address special circumstances.
- (e) Establish a system for determining sanctions and remedies that should or may be imposed under subdivision (c) and for alternative sanctions and remedies under subdivision (d).” MCL 771A.5\(2\).

F. Programming Requirements/Consultation

“The state court administrative office may, under the supervision of the supreme court, consult with the department of corrections to establish programming requirements under [MCL 771A.1 et seq.]” MCL 771A.6\(1\).

G. Eligibility of Individual/Exceptions

“An individual is eligible for the swift and sure probation supervision program if he or she receives a risk score of other than low on a validated risk assessment.” MCL 771A.6\(2\).

“A defendant who is charged with a crime under 1 or more of the following is not eligible under [MCL 771A.1 et seq.]:

- (a) [MCL 750.316, MCL 750.317, MCL 750.520b, MCL 750.520d, MCL 750.529, or MCL 750.544].
- (b) A major controlled substance offense . . . except for a violation of [MCL 333.7403\(2\)\(a\)\(v\)].” MCL 771A.6\(3\).

2.14 Procedures for Handling Cases Under the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision

The Interstate Commission for Adult Offender Supervision, MCL 3.1012, provides uniformity in the transfer of adult offenders from one state to another. All compacting states must comply with the substantive rules issued by the Interstate Commission for Adult Offender Supervision (ICAOS). For more information, visit <https://www.interstatecompact.org> or see the ICAOS Bench Book for Judges and Court Personnel.

Part A: Motion for Relief From Judgment¹

3.1 Scope of Michigan Court Rules Subchapter 6.500

MCR 6.500 et seq. “establishes a procedure for postappeal proceedings challenging criminal convictions.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.501. “It provides the exclusive means to challenge convictions in Michigan courts for a defendant who has had an appeal by right or by leave, who has unsuccessfully sought leave to appeal, or who is unable to file an application for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals because [six] months have elapsed since the judgment.” Id. See MCR 7.205(G)(3).

“Unless otherwise specified by [the Michigan Court Rules], a judgment of conviction and sentence entered by the circuit court not subject to appellate review under [MCR 7.200 et seq. or MCR 7.300 et seq.] may be reviewed only in accordance with the provisions of [MCR 6.500 et seq..” MCR 6.501. See also People v Gibson, ___ Mich ___, ___ (2019) (holding that the trial court erred in citing MCR 2.612(C)(2) as a reason for denying defendant’s motion for relief from judgment, and remanding for reconsideration under the provisions of subchapter 6.500).

3.2 Motion for Relief From Judgment

“The defendant initiates proceedings under [MCR 6.500 et seq.] by filing a motion for relief from judgment.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.502. “[MCR 6.502(C)] spells out the required contents of the motion, which is to be in substantially the form approved by the State Court Administrator.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.502.

Subject to exceptions discussed in Section 3.2(G), “[MCR 6.502(G)] limits criminal defendants to filing one motion for relief from judgment with respect to a conviction[.]” Staff Comment to 1995 Amendment of MCR 6.502.

A. Nature of Motion

“The request for relief under [MCR 6.500 et seq.] must be in the form of a motion to set aside or modify the judgment.” MCR 6.502(A). “The motion must specify all of the grounds for relief which are available to the defendant and of which the defendant has, or by the exercise of due diligence, should have knowledge.” Id.

¹Part A: Motion for Relief From Judgment, contains numerous references to staff comments to the Michigan Court Rules. It is important to note that “a staff comment to the Michigan Court Rules is not binding authority.” People v Williams (Carletus), 483 Mich 226, 238 n 15 (2009).

B. Limitations on Motion

“A motion may seek relief from one judgment only.” MCR 6.502\(B\). To challenge the validity of additional judgments, the defendant must file separate motions. Id. “For the purpose of [MCR 6.502], multiple convictions resulting from a single trial or plea proceeding shall be treated as a single judgment.” MCR 6.502\(B\).

C. Form of Motion

“The motion may not be noticed for hearing, and must be typed or legibly handwritten and include a verification by the defendant or defendant’s lawyer in accordance with MCR 1.109\(D\)\(3\).” MCR 6.502\(C\).

“Except as otherwise ordered by the court, the combined length of the motion and any memorandum of law in support may not exceed 50 pages double-spaced, exclusive of attachments and exhibits.” MCR 6.502\(C\). “If the court enters an order increasing the page limit for the motion, the same order shall indicate that the page limit for the prosecutor’s response provided for in MCR 6.506\(A\) is increased by the same amount.” MCR 6.502\(C\).

“The motion must be substantially in the form approved by the State Court Administrative Office, and must include:

- (1) The name of the defendant;
- (2) The name of the court in which the defendant was convicted and the file number of the defendant’s case;
- (3) The place where the defendant is confined, or, if not confined, the defendant’s current address;
- (4) The offenses for which the defendant was convicted and sentenced;
- (5) The date on which the defendant was sentenced;
- (6) Whether the defendant was convicted by a jury, by a judge without [a] jury, or on a plea of guilty, guilty but mentally ill, or nolo contendere;
- (7) The sentence imposed (probation, fine, and/or imprisonment), the length of the sentence imposed, and whether the defendant is now serving that sentence;
- (8) The name of the judge who presided at trial and imposed sentence;

(9) The court, title, and file number of any proceeding (including appeals and federal court proceedings) instituted by the defendant to obtain relief from conviction or sentence, specifying whether a proceeding is pending or has been completed.

(10) The name of each lawyer who represented the defendant at any time after arrest, and the stage of the case at which each represented the defendant;

(11) The relief requested;

(12) The grounds for the relief requested;

(13) The facts supporting each ground, stated in summary form;

(14) Whether any of the grounds for the relief requested were raised before; if so, at what stage of the case, and, if not, the reasons they were not raised;

(15) Whether the defendant requests the appointment of counsel, and, if so, information necessary for the court to determine whether the defendant is entitled to appointment of counsel at public expense.” MCR 6.502\(C\).

See SCAO Form CC 257, Motion for Relief from Judgment.

“Upon request, the clerk of each court with trial level jurisdiction over felony cases shall make available blank motion forms without charge to any person desiring to file such a motion.” MCR 6.502\(C\).

D. Return of Insufficient Motion

“If a motion is not submitted on a form approved by the State Court Administrative Office, or does not substantially comply with the requirements of these rules, the court shall either direct that it be returned to the defendant with a statement of the reasons for its return, along with the appropriate form, or adjudicate the motion under the provisions of these rules. The clerk of the court shall retain a copy of the motion.” MCR 6.502\(D\). “Motions that do not substantially comply with the requirements of the court rules . . . may be returned to the defendant under certain conditions.” People v Harris (Michael), 500 Mich 874-875 (2016). However, “the court may not dismiss a defendant’s motion for relief from judgment merely for failure to comply with court rules; rather, the court must adjudicate the motion or return it ‘with a statement of reasons for its return.’” People v Gatiss, 486 Mich 960 (2010), quoting MCR 6.502\(D\).

E. Attachments to Motion

“The defendant may attach to the motion any affidavit, document, or evidence to support the relief requested.” MCR 6.502\(E\).

F. Amendment and Supplementation of Motion

“The court may permit the defendant to amend or supplement the motion at any time.” MCR 6.502\(F\).

G. Successive Motions

“Except as provided in [MCR 6.502\(G\)\(2\)], regardless of whether a defendant has previously filed a motion for relief from judgment, after August 1, 1995, one and only one motion for relief from judgment may be filed with regard to a conviction.” MCR 6.502\(G\)\(1\). See Ambrose v Recorder’s Court Judge, 459 Mich 884 (1998) (“[u]nder MCR 6.502\(G\)\(1\), a criminal defendant may file one motion for relief from judgment after August 1, 1995, notwithstanding the defendant’s having filed one or more such motions before that date”).

“The court shall return without filing any successive motions for relief from judgment.” MCR 6.502\(G\)\(1\).

“A defendant may not appeal the denial or rejection of a successive motion.” MCR 6.502\(G\)\(1\).

“A defendant may file a second or subsequent motion based on a retroactive change in law that occurred after the first motion for relief from judgment or a claim of new evidence that was not discovered before the first such motion.” MCR 6.502\(G\)\(2\).² “The court may waive the provisions of this rule if it concludes that there is a significant possibility that the defendant is innocent of the crime.” Id.

“The clerk shall refer a successive motion that asserts that one of these exceptions is applicable to the judge to whom the case is assigned for a determination whether the motion is within one of the exceptions.” MCR 6.502\(G\)\(2\). The rule from People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358 (2015),³ does not apply retroactively for purposes of collateral review under MCR 6.500 (motion for relief from judgment). People v Barnes, 502 Mich 265, 268 (2018).

²“For purposes of [MCR 6.502\(G\)\(2\)], ‘new evidence’ includes new scientific evidence.” MCR 6.502\(G\)\(3\). New scientific evidence “includes, but is not limited to, shifts in science entailing changes: (a) in a field of scientific knowledge, including shifts in scientific consensus; (b) in a testifying expert’s own scientific knowledge and opinions; or (c) in a scientific method on which the relevant scientific evidence at trial was based.” Id. Further, note that People v Cress, 468 Mich 678 (2003), which sets out a test that must be satisfied in order for a defendant to be entitled to a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence, does not apply “to an analysis of a successive motion filed pursuant to MCR 6.502\(G\)\(2\)[;] Cress does not apply to the procedural threshold of MCR 6.502\(G\)\(2\), as the plain text of the court rule does not require that a defendant satisfy all elements of the test.” People v Swain, 499 Mich 920 (2016).

3.3 Filing and Service of Motion

A. Filing and Copies

“A defendant seeking relief under [MCR 6.500 et seq.] must file a motion, and a copy of the motion with the clerk of the court in which the defendant was convicted and sentenced.” MCR 6.503\(A\)\(1\).

“Upon receipt of a motion, the clerk shall file it under the same number as the original conviction.” MCR 6.503\(A\)\(2\).

B. Service

“The defendant shall serve a copy of the motion and notice of its filing on the prosecuting attorney.” MCR 6.503\(B\). Unless the court orders otherwise, the prosecutor need not respond. Id.

3.4 Assignment, Preliminary Consideration by Judge, and Summary Denial

A. Assignment to Judge

The motion must be presented to the judge assigned to the case at the time of the defendant’s conviction. MCR 6.504\(A\). If he or she is not available, “the motion must be assigned to another judge in accordance with the court’s procedure for the reassignment of cases.” Id.

“The chief judge may reassign cases in order to correct docket control problems arising from the requirements of [MCR 6.504].” MCR 6.504\(A\).

³In 2015, the Michigan Supreme Court rendered the previously-mandatory sentencing guidelines “advisory only.” People v Lockridge, 498 Mich 358, 365 (2015), rev’g in part 304 Mich App 278 (2014) and overruling People v Herron, 303 Mich App 392 (2013). Although “sentencing courts [are no longer] bound by the applicable sentencing guidelines range,” they must “continue to consult the applicable guidelines range and take it into account when imposing a sentence,” and they “must justify the sentence imposed in order to facilitate appellate review.” Lockridge, 498 Mich at 392, citing People v Coles, 417 Mich 523, 549 (1983), overruled in part on other grounds by People v Milbourn, 435 Mich 630, 644 (1990). For more information on the precedential value of an opinion with negative subsequent history, see our note. See the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Criminal Proceedings Benchbook Vol. 2, Chapter 2, for a detailed discussion of Lockridge.

B. Initial Consideration by Court

“The court shall promptly examine the motion, together with all the files, records, transcripts, and correspondence relating to the judgment under attack.” MCR 6.504\(B\)\(1\). “The court may request that the prosecutor provide copies of transcripts, briefs, or other records.” Id.

“If it plainly appears from the face of the materials described in [MCR 6.504\(B\)\(1\)] that the defendant is not entitled to relief, the court shall deny the motion without directing further proceedings.” MCR 6.504\(B\)\(2\). “The order must include a concise statement of the reasons for the denial.” Id. “The clerk shall serve a copy of the order on the defendant and the prosecutor.” Id. “The court may dismiss some requests for relief or grounds for relief while directing a response or further proceedings with respect to other specified grounds.” Id.

“If the motion is summarily dismissed under [MCR 6.504\(B\)\(2\)], the defendant may move for reconsideration of the dismissal within 21 days after the clerk serves the order.” MCR 6.504\(B\)\(3\). “The motion must concisely state why the court’s decision was based on a clear error and that a different decision must result from correction of the error.” Id. “A motion which merely presents the same matters that were considered by the court will not be granted.” Id.

“If the entire motion is not dismissed under [MCR 6.504\(B\)\(2\)], the court shall order the prosecuting attorney to file a response as provided in MCR 6.506, and shall conduct further proceedings as provided in [MCR 6.505–MCR 6.508].” MCR 6.504\(B\)\(4\).

3.5 Right to Counsel

“The matter of appointment of counsel for a defendant is covered by MCR 6.505.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.505.

A. Appointment of Counsel

“If the defendant has requested the appointment of counsel, and the court has determined that the defendant is indigent,^[4] the court may appoint counsel for the defendant at any time during the proceedings under [MCR 6.500 et seq.]” MCR 6.505(A).

“Counsel must be appointed if the court directs that oral argument or an evidentiary hearing be held.” MCR 6.505(A). See also People v Sanders (Sam), 497 Mich 978 (2015) (“[w]hen the circuit court determines that an evidentiary hearing is required to resolve an issue . . . it must appoint counsel for an indigent defendant, as required by MCR 6.505(A)”).

B. Opportunity to Supplement the Motion

“If the court appoints counsel to represent the defendant, it shall afford counsel 56 days to amend or supplement the motion.” MCR 6.505(B). “The court may extend the time on a showing that a necessary transcript or record is not available to counsel.” Id.

3.6 Response by Prosecutor

“If the court does not summarily dismiss the motion under MCR 6.504, it is to direct the prosecutor to file a response.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.506. “MCR 6.506 has several provisions regarding filing and service of the response.” Id. “The prosecutor is to supply copies of transcripts or briefs to which the response refers that are not in the court’s file.” Id.

A. Contents of Response

If the court directs the prosecutor to respond to the allegations under MCR 6.504(B)(4), the prosecutor must do so in writing, and the court must afford the prosecutor at least 56 days to respond. MCR 6.506(A). “If the response refers to transcripts or briefs that are not in the court’s file, the prosecutor shall submit copies of those items with the response.” Id. “Except as otherwise ordered by the court, the response shall not exceed 50 pages double-spaced, exclusive of attachments and exhibits.” Id.

B. Filing and Service

The prosecutor must file one copy of the response with the clerk of the court and serve one copy on the defendant. MCR 6.506(B).

3.7 Expansion of Record

“The court is given considerable discretion in the matter of expanding the record if further information is necessary to decide the motion.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.507.

A. Order to Expand Record

“If the court does not deny the motion pursuant to MCR 6.504\(B\)\(2\), it may direct the parties to expand the record by including any additional materials it deems relevant to the decision on the merits of the motion.” MCR 6.507\(A\). “The expanded record may include letters, affidavits, documents, exhibits, and answers under oath to interrogatories propounded by the court.” Id.

“[W]hen expansion of the record is necessary to resolve a defendant’s motion for relief from judgment under [MCR 6.500 et seq.], it can only do so within the constraints set out in MCR 6.507\(A\).” People v Sanders (Sam), 497 Mich 978-979 (2015). A procedural error was committed where the court “did not direct the parties to expand the record, but rather acted sua sponte to conduct an evidentiary hearing at which the defendant’s trial counsel was questioned directly by the court[,] . . . [and t]he defendant . . . was not represented by counsel.” Id.

B. Submission to Opposing Party

If a party submits items to expand the record, the party must serve copies of the items on the opposing party, and the court must afford the opposing party “an opportunity to admit or deny the correctness of the items.” MCR 6.507\(B\).

C. Authentication

“The court may require the authentication of any item submitted under [MCR 6.507].” MCR 6.507\(C\).

3.8 Procedure, Evidentiary Hearing, and Determination

“Most of the provisions on governing hearings and decision on the motion are found in MCR 6.508.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.508. “Where no particular provision of [MCR 6.500 et seq.] prescribes a procedure, the court has discretion to select appropriate procedures.” 1989 Staff Comment to MCR 6.508.

A. Procedure Generally

“If the rules in [MCR 6.500 et seq.] do not prescribe the applicable procedure, the court may proceed in any lawful manner.” MCR 6.508(A). “The court may apply the rules applicable to civil or criminal proceedings, as it deems appropriate.” Id.

B. Decision With or Without Evidentiary Hearing

“After reviewing the motion and response, the record, and the expanded record, if any, the court shall determine whether an evidentiary hearing is required.” MCR 6.508(B). “If the court decides that an evidentiary hearing is not required, it may rule on the motion or, in its discretion, afford the parties an opportunity for oral argument.” Id.

“When [a] circuit court determines that an evidentiary hearing is required to resolve an issue[.], . . . it must comply with MCR 6.508(C)[.]” People v Sanders (Sam), 497 Mich 978 (2015). MCR 6.508(C) requires the court to “schedule and conduct the hearing as promptly as practicable.” “At the hearing the rules of evidence other than those with respect to privilege do not apply.” Id. The court must ensure that the hearing is recorded verbatim. Id.

C. Entitlement to Relief

“The defendant has the burden of establishing entitlement to the relief requested.” MCR 6.508(D).

“The court may not grant relief to the defendant if the motion

(1) seeks relief from a judgment of conviction and sentence that still is subject to challenge on appeal pursuant to [MCR 7.200 et seq. or MCR 7.300 et seq.];

(2) alleges grounds for relief which were decided against the defendant in a prior appeal or proceeding under [MCR 6.500 et seq.], unless the defendant establishes that a retroactive change in the law has undermined the prior decision;

(3) alleges grounds for relief, other than jurisdictional defects, which could have been raised on appeal from the conviction and sentence or in a prior motion under [MCR 6.500 et seq.], unless the defendant demonstrates

(a) good cause for failure to raise such grounds on appeal or in the prior motion, and

(b) actual prejudice from the alleged irregularities that support the claim for relief. . . .” MCR 6.508\(D\) (emphasis added).

“As used in [MCR 6.508\(D\)], ‘actual prejudice’ means that,

(i) in a conviction following a trial, but for the alleged error, the defendant would have had a reasonably likely change of acquittal;

(ii) in a conviction entered on a plea of guilty, guilty but mentally ill, or nolo contendere, the defect in the proceeding was such that it renders the plea an involuntary one to a degree that it would be manifestly unjust to allow the conviction to stand;

(iii) in any case, the irregularity was so offensive to the maintenance of a sound judicial process that the conviction should not be allowed to stand regardless of its effect on the outcome of the case;

(iv) in the case of a challenge to the sentence, the sentence is invalid.” MCR 6.508\(D\)\(3\)\(b\).

“In order to be entitled to relief under MCR 6.508\(D\)\(3\), both ‘good cause’ and ‘actual prejudice’ must be established.” People v Kimble, 470 Mich 305, 313-314 (2004). A defendant is required to fulfill the good cause requirement regardless of whether he or she filed a prior motion in propria persona or with representation. People v Clark (Paul), 274 Mich App 248, 254 (2007). However, “[t]he court may waive the ‘good cause’ requirement of [MCR 6.508\(D\)\(3\)\(a\)] if it concludes that there is a significant possibility that the defendant is innocent of the crime.” MCR 6.508\(D\).

“‘Good cause’ can be established by proving ineffective assistance of counsel.” Kimble, 470 Mich at 314. “To demonstrate ineffective assistance, it must be shown that defendant’s attorney’s performance fell below an objective standard of reasonableness and this performance prejudiced him [or her].” Id. (good cause and actual prejudice established where defense counsel admitted that an offense variable was erroneously scored, he should have brought it to the court’s attention, and his failure to do so resulted in a sentencing error). See also People v Brown (Stanley), 491 Mich 914, 914-915 (2012) (granting the defendant a new trial under MCR 6.508\(D\) because the defendant’s trial counsel was ineffective in failing to present certain corroboratory evidence and in failing to “effectively cross-examine the sole complainant” about inconsistencies in her testimony; “[b]ecause the defendant’s former appellate counsel was ineffective for failing to raise these issues on the defendant’s direct appeal, and the defendant was prejudiced thereby, he . . . met the burden of establishing entitlement to relief under MCR 6.508\(D\)”).

Receiving an invalid sentence constitutes “actual prejudice” under MCR 6.508\(D\)\(3\)\(a\). See People v Williams (Ronald), 326 Mich App 514, 519 (2018). However, in Williams, the “[d]efendant failed to show actual prejudice under [MCR 6.508\(D\)\(3\)\(b\)] by establishing that his life sentence for second-degree murder was invalid” because a sentence of life with the possibility of parole provides “some meaningful opportunity to obtain release” as required by Miller v Alabama, 567 US 460 (2012), and Montgomery v Louisiana, ___ US ___ (2016)”; accordingly, Miller and Montgomery invalidate only mandatory sentences of life without the possibility of parole. Williams, 326 Mich App at 520, 526 (additionally rejecting defendant’s argument that his second-degree murder sentence was invalid because the trial court failed to thoughtfully consider it in light of the then-mandatory life without parole sentence for first-degree murder as speculative and contrary to the record).

D. Ruling

“The court, either orally or in writing, shall set forth in the record its findings of fact and its conclusions of law, and enter an appropriate order disposing of the motion.” MCR 6.508\(E\).

3.9 Appeal

A. Availability of Appeal

“Appeals from decisions under [MCR 6.500 et seq.] are by application for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals pursuant to MCR 7.205.” MCR 6.509\(A\). “The 6-month time limit provided by MCR 7.205\(G\)\(3\), runs from the decision under [MCR 6.500 et seq.]” MCR 6.509\(A\). “The rule does not limit the availability of an appeal to a defendant.” People v Reed, 198 Mich App 639, 644 (1993). “Thus, [the Court of Appeals] has jurisdiction to review [a] trial court’s order granting [a] defendant relief from judgment.” Id. “Nothing in [MCR 6.500 et seq.] shall be construed as extending the time to appeal from the original judgment.” MCR 6.509\(A\).

B. Responsibility of Appointed Counsel

“If the trial court has appointed counsel for the defendant during the proceeding, that appointment authorizes the attorney to represent the defendant in connection with an application for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals.” MCR 6.509\(B\). See also MCR 6.425 (governing the appointment of appellate counsel).⁵

C. Responsibility of the Prosecutor

“If the prosecutor has not filed a response to the defendant’s application for leave to appeal in the appellate court, the prosecutor must file an appellee’s brief if the appellate court grants the defendant’s application for leave to appeal.” MCR 6.509\(C\). “The prosecutor must file an appellee’s brief within 56 days after an order directing a response pursuant to [MCR 6.509\(D\)].” MCR 6.509\(C\).

D. Responsibility of the Appellate Court

“If the appellate court grants the defendant’s application for leave to appeal and the prosecutor has not filed a response in the appellate court, the appellate court must direct the prosecutor to file an appellee’s brief, and give the prosecutor the opportunity to file an appellee’s brief pursuant to [MCR 6.509\(C\)], before granting further relief to the defendant.” MCR 6.509\(D\).

E. Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

“[W]hen an attorney’s deficient performance costs a defendant an appeal that the defendant would have otherwise pursued, prejudice to the defendant should be presumed ‘with no further showing from the defendant of the merits of his underlying claims.’” Garza v Idaho, 586 US ___, ___ (2019), quoting Roe v Flores-Ortega, 528 US 470, 484 (2000). This presumption of prejudice “applies even when the defendant has, in the course of pleading guilty, signed what is often called an ‘appeal waiver’—that is, an agreement forgoing certain, but not all, possible appellate claims.” Garza, ___ US at ___ (noting that “even the broadest appeal waiver does not deprive a defendant of all appellate claims”). In Garza, although the defendant’s plea agreements included an appeal waiver, his “attorney performed deficiently in failing to file a notice of appeal despite the defendant’s express instructions” to do so. Id. at ___. “[S]imply filing a notice of appeal does not necessarily breach a plea agreement, given the possibility that the defendant will end up raising claims beyond the waiver’s scope. And in any event, the bare decision whether to appeal is ultimately the defendant’s, not counsel’s, to make.” Id. at ___.

⁵See Section 1.4 for discussion of MCR 6.425.

3.10 Standard of Review

A trial court's ruling on a motion for relief from judgment is reviewed for an abuse of discretion. People v McSwain, 259 Mich App 654, 681 (2003). A trial court's findings of fact supporting the ruling are reviewed for clear error. Id. A trial court's interpretation of a court rule is a question of law that is reviewed de novo. People v Clark (Paul), 274 Mich App 248, 251 (2007).

Part B: Setting Aside a Conviction

3.11 Quick Reference Materials

The Michigan Judicial Institute has created several Quick Reference Materials relevant to setting aside convictions:

- Setting Aside a Conviction Flowchart
- Setting Aside a Conviction Checklist
- Setting Aside a Human Trafficking Conviction Flowchart
- Setting Aside a Conviction for Human Trafficking Victim Checklist

3.12 Application for Order Setting Aside a Conviction

“The setting aside of a conviction or convictions under [MCL 780.621 et seq.] is a privilege and conditional and is not a right.” MCL 780.621(15). “[T]he expungement statute is remedial and . . . does not create new or destroy existing rights.” People v Link, 225 Mich App 211, 215 (1997).

“Except as provided in [MCL 780.621], a person who is convicted of not more than 1 offense may file an application with the convicting court for the entry of an order setting aside 1 or more convictions as follows:

- (a) A person who is convicted of not more than 1 felony offense and not more than 2 misdemeanor offenses may petition the convicting court to set aside the felony offense.
- (b) Except as provided in [MCL 780.621(1)(c)], a person who is convicted of not more than 2 misdemeanor offenses and no other felony or misdemeanor offenses may petition the convicting court or the convicting courts to set aside 1 or both of the misdemeanor convictions.

(c) A person who is convicted of a violation or an attempted violation of . . . MCL 750.520e [(fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct)], before January 12, 2015 may petition the convicting court to set aside the conviction if the individual has not been convicted of another offense other than not more than 2 minor offenses.” MCL 780.621\(1\).

See SCAO Form MC 227, Application to Set Aside Conviction.

A. Deferred and Dismissed Convictions Considered Misdemeanor Convictions

“A conviction that was deferred and dismissed under any of the following, whether a misdemeanor or a felony, shall be considered a misdemeanor conviction under [MCL 780.621\(1\)] for purposes of determining whether a person is eligible to have any conviction set aside under [MCL 780.621 et seq.]:

- (a) [MCL 436.1703 (purchase, consumption, or possession of alcoholic liquor by minor)].
- (b) [MCL 600.1070\(1\)\(b\)\(i\) (drug treatment court) or MCL 600.1209 (veterans treatment court)].
- (c) [MCL 762.13 (Holmes Youthful Trainee Act (HYTA)) or MCL 769.4a (certain domestic violence and spousal abuse convictions)].
- (d) [MCL 333.7411 (certain controlled substance offenses)].
- (e) [MCL 750.350a (parental kidnapping) or MCL 750.430 (practice of profession by health care professional while under the influence of alcohol or controlled substance)].
- (f) Any other law or laws of this state or of a political subdivision of this state similar in nature and applicability to those listed in this subsection that provide for the deferral and dismissal of a felony or misdemeanor charge.” MCL 780.621\(2\).

B. Timing and Contents of Application

“An application under [MCL 780.621\(1\)] shall only be filed 5 or more years after whichever of the following events occurs last:

- (a) Imposition of the sentence for the conviction that the applicant seeks to set aside.
- (b) Completion of probation imposed for the conviction that the applicant seeks to set aside.
- (c) Discharge from parole imposed for the conviction that the applicant seeks to set aside.
- (d) Completion of any term of imprisonment imposed for the conviction that the applicant seeks to set aside.”
MCL 780.621\(5\).

“If a petition under [MCL 780.621 et seq.] is denied by the convicting court, a person shall not file another petition concerning the same conviction or convictions with the convicting court until 3 years after the date the convicting court denies the previous petition, unless the court specifies an earlier date for filing another petition in the order denying the petition.” MCL 780.621\(6\).

“An application under [MCL 780.621] is invalid unless it contains the following information and is signed under oath by the person whose conviction is or convictions are to be set aside:

- (a) The full name and current address of the applicant.
- (b) A certified record of each conviction that is to be set aside.
- (c) For an application under [MCL 780.621\(1\)], a statement that the applicant has not been convicted of an offense other than the conviction or convictions sought to be set aside as a result of this application and any nondisqualifying misdemeanor convictions described in [MCL 780.621\(1\)\(a\)].
- (d) A statement listing all actions enumerated in [MCL 780.621\(2\)] that were initiated against the applicant and have been dismissed.
- (e) A statement as to whether the applicant has previously filed an application to set aside this or other conviction and, if so, the disposition of the application.
- (f) A statement as to whether the applicant has any other criminal charge pending against him or her in any court in the United States or in any other country.
- (g) If the person is seeking to have 1 or more convictions set aside under [MCL 780.621\(4\)], a statement that he or she meets the criteria set forth in [MCL 780.621\(4\)], together with a statement of the facts supporting his or her contention that the conviction was a direct result of his or her being a victim of human trafficking.

(h) A consent to the use of the nonpublic record created under [MCL 780.621(3)] to the extent authorized by [MCL 780.621(3)].” MCL 780.621(8).

C. Affidavits and Proofs

“For an application under [MCL 780.621(1)], upon the hearing of the application the court may require the filing of affidavits and the taking of proofs as it considers proper.” MCL 780.621(12).

D. Court Order

“If the court determines that the circumstances and behavior of an applicant under [MCL 780.621(1)], from the date of the applicant’s conviction or convictions to the filing of the application warrant setting aside the conviction or convictions, and that setting aside the conviction or convictions is consistent with the public welfare, the court may enter an order setting aside the conviction or convictions.” MCL 780.621(14).

“The nature of the offense itself does not preclude the setting aside of an offender’s conviction.” People v Rosen, 201 Mich App 621, 623 (1993). “That reason, standing alone, is insufficient to warrant denial of an application to set aside a conviction.” Id. “[MCL 780.621(14)⁶] by its plain language requires a balancing of factors, specifically a determination of the ‘circumstances and behavior’ of a petitioner balanced against the ‘public welfare. In ruling on such matters, enough of a determination must be provided from which to analyze the matter in which the court’s discretion was exercised and the basis for the court’s determination.” Id., quoting People v Boulding, 160 Mich App 156, 158 (1986).

See SCAO Form 228, Order on Application to Set Aside Conviction.

3.13 Setting Aside of Certain Convictions Prohibited

“A person shall not apply to have set aside, and a judge shall not set aside, a conviction for any of the following:

⁶ Formerly MCL 780.621(9). Although the statute has since been amended, it is substantially similar in substance.

- (a) A felony for which the maximum punishment is life imprisonment or an attempt to commit a felony for which the maximum punishment is life imprisonment.
- (b) A violation or attempted violation of [MCL 750.136b(3) (second-degree child abuse), MCL 750.136d(1)(b) (second-degree child abuse in the presence of another child), MCL 750.136d(1)(c) (second-degree child abuse in the presence of another child on a second or subsequent occasion), MCL 750.145c (child sexually abusive activity), MCL 750.145d (use of the internet or computer to make a prohibited communication), MCL 750.520c (second-degree criminal sexual conduct), MCL 750.520d (third-degree criminal sexual conduct), or MCL 750.520g (assault with intent to commit criminal sexual conduct)].
- (c) A violation or attempted violation of . . . MCL 750.520e [(fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct)], if the conviction occurred on or after January 12, 2015.^{7]}
- (d) A traffic offense, including, but not limited to, a conviction for operating while intoxicated.
- (e) A felony conviction for domestic violence, if the person has a previous misdemeanor conviction for domestic violence.
- (f) A violation of [MCL 750.462a–MCL 750.462h (human trafficking)] and [MCL 750.543a–MCL 750.543z (Michigan anti-terrorism act)].” MCL 780.621(3).

3.14 Prostitution-Related Offenses Committed by Human Trafficking Victims

“A person who is convicted of a violation of [MCL 750.448 (soliciting, accosting, or inviting to commit prostitution or immoral act), MCL 750.449 (admitting to place for purpose of prostitution), or MCL 750.450 (aiding, assisting, or abetting another person to commit or offer to commit an act prohibited under MCL 750.448, MCL 750.449, or MCL 750.449a)], or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to [MCL 750.448, MCL 750.449, or MCL 750.450], may apply to have that conviction set aside if he or she committed the offense as a direct result of his or her being a victim of a human trafficking violation.” MCL 780.621(4).

⁷“A person who is convicted of a violation or an attempted violation of [MCL 750.520e (fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct)], before January 12, 2015 may petition the convicting court to set aside the conviction if the individual has not been convicted of another offense other than not more than 2 minor offenses.” MCL 780.621(1)(c) (emphasis added).

A. Timing and Contents of Application

“An application under [MCL 780.621(4)] may be filed at any time following the date of the conviction to be set aside.” MCL 780.621(7).

“A person may apply to have more than 1 conviction set aside under [MCL 780.621(4)].” MCL 780.621(7).

B. Affidavits and Proofs

“If the person is seeking to have 1 or more convictions set aside under [MCL 780.621(4)], [the application is invalid unless it is signed under oath by the person and contains, in part,] a statement that he or she meets the criteria set forth in [MCL 780.621(4)], together with a statement of the facts supporting his or her contention that the conviction was a direct result of his or her being a victim of human trafficking.” MCL 780.621(8)(g).

C. Court Order

“For an application under [MCL 780.621(4)], if the applicant proves to the court by a preponderance of the evidence that the conviction was a direct result of his or her being a victim of human trafficking, the court may, subject to the requirements of [MCL 780.621(14)], enter an order setting aside the conviction.” MCL 780.621(13).

“If the court determines that the circumstances and behavior of an applicant under [MCL 780.621(4)], from the date of the applicant’s conviction or convictions to the filing of the application warrant setting aside the conviction or convictions, and that setting aside the conviction or convictions is consistent with the public welfare, the court may enter an order setting aside the conviction or convictions.” MCL 780.621(14). “The nature of the offense itself does not preclude the setting aside of an offender’s conviction.” People v Rosen, 201 Mich App 621, 623 (1993). “That reason, standing alone, is insufficient to warrant denial of an application to set aside a conviction.” Id. “[MCL 780.621(14)⁸] by its plain language requires a balancing of factors, specifically a determination of the ‘circumstances and behavior’ of a petitioner balanced against the ‘public welfare. In ruling on such matters, enough of a determination must be provided from which to analyze the matter in which the court’s discretion was exercised and the basis for the court’s determination.” Id., quoting People v Boulding, 160 Mich App 156, 158 (1986).

3.15 Submitting Application and Fingerprints to Department of State Police

“The applicant shall submit a copy of the application and 1 complete set of fingerprints to the department of state police.” MCL 780.621\(9\). “The department of state police shall compare those fingerprints with the records of the department, including the nonpublic record created under [\[MCL 780.623\]](#), and shall forward an electronic copy of a complete set of fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a comparison with the records available to that agency.” MCL 780.621\(9\).

A. Report

“The department of state police shall report to the court in which the application is filed the information contained in the department’s records with respect to any pending charges against the applicant, any record of conviction of the applicant, and the setting aside of any conviction of the applicant and shall report to the court any similar information obtained from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.” MCL 780.621\(9\). “The court shall not act upon the application until the department of state police reports the information required by [\[MCL 780.621\(9\)\]](#) to the court.” MCL 780.621\(9\).

B. Application Fee

“The copy of the application submitted to the department of state police under [\[MCL 780.621\(9\)\]](#) shall be accompanied by a fee of $50.00 payable to the state of Michigan that shall be used by the department of state police to defray the expenses incurred in processing the application.” MCL 780.621\(10\).

3.16 Contest of Application by Attorney General or Prosecuting Attorney

“A copy of the application shall be served upon the attorney general and upon the office of each prosecuting attorney who prosecuted the crime or crimes the applicant seeks to set aside, and an opportunity shall be given to the attorney general and to the prosecuting attorney to contest the application.” MCL 780.621\(11\).

“If a conviction was for an assaultive crime or a serious misdemeanor, the prosecuting attorney shall notify the victim of the assaultive crime or serious misdemeanor of the application under [MCL 780.772a or MCL 780.827a].” MCL 780.621(11). “The notice shall be by first-class mail to the victim’s last known address.” Id. “The victim has the right to appear at any proceeding under [MCL 780.621 et seq.] concerning that conviction and to make a written or oral statement.” MCL 780.621(11).

3.17 Effect of Entry of Order

“Upon the entry of an order under [MCL 780.621], the applicant, for purposes of the law, shall be considered not to have been previously convicted, except as provided in [MCL 780.622] and [MCL 780.623⁹].” MCL 780.622(1).

Under MCL 780.622, “[i]f the conviction set aside under [MCL 780.621(1)] is for a listed offense as defined in [MCL 28.722(j)], the applicant is considered to have been convicted of that offense for purposes of [MCL 28.721 et seq.]” MCL 780.622(3). “[E]xpungement pursuant to MCL 780.621 does not relieve a felony sex offender from the continuing duty to register pursuant to the provisions of the Sex Offenders Registration Act, MCL 28.721 et seq.” People v Van Heck, 252 Mich App 207, 215 (2002).

Under MCL 780.623, the Department of State Police must maintain a nonpublic record of an order setting aside a conviction for use in limited circumstances, including as a consideration when determining a sentence for a subsequent felony offense or an offense punishable by imprisonment for more than one year. MCL 780.623(2); MCL 780.623(2)(c). See Section 3.18 for more information on the nonpublic record requirements and use.

Setting aside a conviction under MCL 780.621 does not affect the applicant’s double jeopardy rights, nor does it affect the victim’s rights to prosecute or defend a civil action for damages. MCL 780.622(4)-(5).

Setting aside a conviction does not create an applicant’s right to commence an action for damages for incarceration pursuant to the sentence served before the conviction was set aside, nor does it entitle the applicant to remission of any money paid as a consequence of the set aside conviction.¹⁰ MCL 722.622(2); MCL 780.622(6).

⁹MCL 780.623 requires the Department of State Police to maintain a nonpublic record of an order setting aside a conviction for use in limited circumstances, including as a consideration when determining a sentence for a subsequent felony offense or an offense punishable by imprisonment for more than one year. MCL 780.623(2); MCL 780.623(2)(c).

3.18 Nonpublic Record of Order Setting Aside a Conviction

A. Sending Copy of Order to Arresting Agency and Department of State Police

Once an order to set aside a conviction is entered, the court must send a copy to the arresting agency and the Department of State Police. MCL 780.623\(1\).

B. Retention and Availability of Nonpublic Record of Order and Other Records

“[T]he Department of State Police is required to retain a record of expunged convictions and their associated sentences, which may be accessed and used by a number of state authorities for a variety of reasons[.]” People v Van Heck, 252 Mich App 207, 215 (2002).

“The department of state police shall retain a nonpublic record of the order setting aside a conviction and of the record of the arrest, fingerprints, conviction, and sentence of the applicant in the case to which the order applies.” MCL 780.623\(2\). “Except as provided in [MCL 780.623\(3\)], this nonpublic record shall be made available only to a court of competent jurisdiction, an agency of the judicial branch of state government, the department of corrections, a law enforcement agency, a prosecuting attorney, the attorney general, or the governor upon request and only for the following purposes:

- (a) Consideration in a licensing function conducted by an agency of the judicial branch of state government.
- (b) To show that a person who has filed an application to set aside a conviction has previously had a conviction set aside under [MCL 780.621 et seq].
- (c) The court’s consideration in determining the sentence to be imposed upon conviction for a subsequent offense that is punishable as a felony or by imprisonment for more than 1 year.

¹⁰However, see Nelson v Colorado, 581 US ___, ___ (2017), holding that “[w]hen a criminal conviction is invalidated by a reviewing court and no retrial will occur, . . . the State [is] obliged to refund fees, court costs, and restitution exacted from the defendant upon, and as a consequence of, the conviction[;]” the retention of such conviction-related assessments following the reversal of a conviction, where the defendant will not be retried, “offends the Fourteenth Amendment’s guarantee of due process.” It is unclear whether the reasoning of Nelson extends to convictions that are set aside, rather than vacated or reversed on appeal.

(d) Consideration by the governor if a person whose conviction has been set aside applies for a pardon for another offense.

(e) Consideration by the department of corrections or a law enforcement agency if a person whose conviction has been set aside applies for employment with the department of corrections or law enforcement agency.

(f) Consideration by a court, law enforcement agency, prosecuting attorney, or the attorney general in determining whether an individual required to be registered under the sex offenders registration act(SORA), [MCL 28.721 et seq.], has violated that act, or for use in a prosecution for violating that act.” MCL 780.623\(2\).

C. Providing Copy of Nonpublic Record to Person Whose Conviction Is Set Aside and Fee

“A copy of the nonpublic record created under [MCL 780.623\(2\)] shall be provided to the person whose conviction is set aside under [MCL 780.621 et seq.] upon payment of a fee determined and charged by the department of state police in the same manner as the fee prescribed in [MCL 15.234 (the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA))].” MCL 780.623\(3\).

D. Nonpublic Record Exempt From Disclosure

“The nonpublic record maintained under [MCL 780.623\(2\)] is exempt from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), [MCL 15.231 et seq.].” MCL 780.623\(4\).

E. Prohibited Conduct

“Except as provided in [MCL 780.623\(2\)], a person, other than the applicant or a victim, who knows or should have known that a conviction was set aside under [MCL 780.623] and who divulges, uses, or publishes information concerning a conviction set aside under [MCL 780.623] is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days or a fine of not more than $500.00, or both.” MCL 780.623\(5\).

3.19 Limitation on Setting Aside of Convictions

“Except as provided in [MCL 780.621], a person may have only 1 conviction set aside under [MCL 780.621 et seq.].” MCL 780.624.

Part C: Prosecutor's Postjudgment Responsibilities

3.20 Evidence of Defendant's Innocence

A prosecutor's special responsibilities are set forth in MRPC 3.8; relevant to postjudgment proceedings, the rule requires a prosecutor who "knows of new, credible, and material evidence creating a reasonable likelihood that a convicted defendant is innocent of the crime for which the defendant was convicted" to "promptly disclose that evidence to an appropriate court or authority[.]" MRPC 3.8\(f\)\(1\). Further, "if the conviction was obtained in the prosecutor's jurisdiction," the prosecutor must "promptly disclose that evidence to the defendant unless a court authorizes delay," and must "undertake further investigation, or make reasonable efforts to cause an investigation, to determine whether the defendant is innocent of the crime." MRPC 3.8\(f\)\(2\)\(j\)-\(i\).

"When a prosecutor knows of clear and convincing evidence establishing that a defendant in the prosecutor's jurisdiction is innocent of the crime for which defendant was prosecuted, the prosecutor shall seek to remedy the conviction." MRPC 3.8\(g\).

However, "[a] prosecutor's independent judgment, made in good faith, that the new evidence is not of such nature as to trigger the obligations of [MRPC 3.8\(f\) and MRPC 3.8\(g\)], though subsequently determined to have been erroneous, does not constitute a violation of [MRPC 3.8]." MRPC 3.8\(h\).

4.1 Habeas Corpus, In General

“The object of the writ of habeas corpus is ‘to determine the legality of the restraint under which a person is held.’” Moses v Dep’t of Corrections, 274 Mich App 481, 485 (2007), quoting Phillips v Warden, State Prison of Southern Mich, 153 Mich App 557, 565 (1986). “The writ of habeas corpus deals with radical defects that render a judgment or proceeding absolutely void.” Moses, 274 Mich App at 485.

4.2 Habeas Corpus in Michigan

“A civil action or appropriate motion in a pending action may be brought to obtain . . . habeas corpus[.]” MCR 3.301\(A\)\(1\)\(b\). The “special rules in [MCR 3.300 et seq. (extraordinary writs)] govern the procedure for seeking the writs or relief formerly obtained by the writs, whether the right to relief is created by statute or common law.” MCR 3.301\(A\)\(2\). “If the right to relief is created by statute, the limitations on relief in the statute apply, as well as the limitations on relief in these rules.” Id.

“The provisions of [MCL 600.4301 to MCL 600.4379] shall be construed to apply to every writ of habeas corpus authorized to be issued under any statute of this state, insofar as they are consistent with the statute granting the right to habeas corpus.” MCL 600.4301.

“A prisoner’s right to file a complaint for habeas corpus relief is guaranteed by Const 1963, art 1, § 12.” Moses v Dep’t of Corrections, 274 Mich App 481, 484 (2007).

4.3 Habeas Corpus to Inquire Into Cause of Detention

“MCR 3.303 governs the procedure to be followed in an action for habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention.” Phillips v Warden, State Prison of Southern Mich, 153 Mich App 557, 561 (1986).

A. Jurisdiction/Power to Issue Writ

“An action for habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention of a person may be brought in any court of record except the probate court.” MCR 3.303\(A\)\(1\).

“The writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention, or an order to show cause why the writ should not issue, may be issued by the following:

- (1) The [S]upreme [C]ourt, or a justice thereof.
- (2) The [C]ourt of [A]ppeals, or a judge thereof.

- (3) The circuit courts, or a judge thereof.
- (4) The municipal courts of record, including but not limited to the recorder's court of the city of Detroit, common pleas court, or a judge thereof.
- (5) The district courts, or a judge thereof." MCL 600.4304.

See, e.g., Walls v Dir of Institutional Servs Maxie Boy's Training Sch, 84 Mich App 355, 360 (1978) (Court of Appeals ordered a writ of habeas corpus directing the release of a juvenile under its authority found in MCL 600.4304\(2\)).

B. Venue

"The action must be brought in the county in which the prisoner is detained." MCR 3.303\(A\)\(2\). "If it is shown that there is no judge in that county empowered and available to issue the writ or that the judicial circuit for that county has refused to issue the writ, the action may be brought in the Court of Appeals." MCR 3.303\(A\)\(2\). See Moses, 274 Mich App at 484 (Court of Appeals has "jurisdiction to entertain an action for habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention where[] . . . the judge in the county where the prisoner was detained refuses to issue the writ").

C. Persons Detained on Criminal Charges

"A prisoner detained in a county jail for a criminal charge, who has not been sentenced to detention by a court of competent jurisdiction, may be removed from detention by a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention only if the writ is issued by the court in which the prisoner would next appear if the criminal process against the prisoner continued, or by the judicial circuit for the county in which the prisoner is detained." MCR 3.303\(A\)\(3\).¹

D. Right to Bring Action

"An action for habeas corpus may be brought by the prisoner or by another person on the prisoner's behalf." MCR 3.303\(B\).

"An action for habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention may be brought by or on the behalf of any person restrained of his [or her] liberty within this state under any pretense whatsoever, except as specified in [MCL 600.4310]."² MCL 600.4307.

¹"[MCR 3.303\(A\)\(3\)] does not limit the power of the Court of Appeals or Supreme Court to issue the writ."
MCR 3.303\(A\)\(3\).

“As a general rule, every person committed, detained, confined or restrained of his [or her] liberty for any criminal or supposed criminal matter may seek a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of the restraint.” Triplett v Deputy Warden, 142 Mich App 774, 780 (1985), citing MCL 600.4307. “However, the writ of habeas corpus deals only with radical defects rendering a judgment or proceeding absolutely void.” Triplett, 142 Mich App at 780. “A judgment which is merely erroneous, rather than void, is subject to review and may not be collaterally attacked in a habeas corpus proceeding.” Id. at 780-781.

E. Persons Not Entitled to Writ

“An action for habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of detention may not be brought by or on behalf of the following persons:

- (1) Persons detained by virtue of any process issued by any court of the United States, or any judge thereof, in cases where such courts or judges have exclusive jurisdiction under the laws of the United States, or have acquired exclusive jurisdiction by the commencement of suits in such courts;
- (2) Persons committed for treason or felony, or for suspicion thereof, or as accessories before the fact to a felony, where the cause is plainly and specially expressed in the warrant of commitment;
- (3) Persons convicted, or in execution, upon legal process, civil or criminal;
- (4) Persons committed on original process in any civil action on which they were liable to be arrested and imprisoned, unless excessive and unreasonable bail is required.” MCL 600.4310.

“In general, MCL 600.4310\(3\) prohibits habeas corpus relief to ‘[p]ersons convicted, or in execution, upon legal process, civil or criminal.’” Moses, 274 Mich App at 485-486 (alteration in original). “But relief ‘is open to a convicted person in one narrow instance, . . . where the convicting court was without jurisdiction to try the defendant for the crime in question.’” Id. at 486, quoting People v Price, 23 Mich App 663, 669-670 (1970) (ellipsis in original). “Moreover, to qualify for habeas corpus relief, the jurisdictional defect must be radical, rendering the conviction absolutely void.” Moses, 274 Mich App at 486. “‘A radical defect in jurisdiction contemplates . . . an act or omission by state authorities that clearly contravenes an express legal requirement in existence at the time of the act or omission.” Id., quoting Price, 23 Mich App at 671 (ellipses in original). “Nevertheless, habeas relief may be denied in the exercise of a court’s discretion where full relief may be obtained in other more appropriate proceedings.” Moses, 274 Mich App at 486. “Thus, while [a] plaintiff may not use a habeas proceeding as a substitute for an appeal or to review the merits of his [or her] criminal conviction, [a] plaintiff may assert a radical defect in the jurisdiction of the court in which his [or her] conviction was obtained.” Id. (“habeas relief requiring the [Department of Corrections] to release plaintiff might be appropriate because plaintiff raise[d] a jurisdictional challenge to the authority of the state to prosecute him in any state court”).

F. Refusal to Consider Habeas Corpus Constitutes Malfeasance

“Any judge who wilfully or corruptly refuses or neglects to consider an application, action, or motion for habeas corpus, is guilty of malfeasance in office.” MCL 600.4313. See Stowers v Wolodzko, 386 Mich 119, 136 (1971) (Michigan Supreme Court has “recognized that interference with attempts of persons incarcerated to obtain their freedom may constitute false imprisonment” and recognized that the state has “protected the individual’s rights” through MCL 600.4313).

G. Complaint

“The complaint must state:

- (1) that the person on whose behalf the writ is applied for (the prisoner) is restrained of his or her liberty;
- (2) the name, if known, or the description of the prisoner;
- (3) the name, if known, or the description of the officer or person by whom the prisoner is restrained;
- (4) the place of restraint, if known;
- (5) that the action for habeas corpus by or on behalf of the prisoner is not prohibited;
- (6) the cause or pretense of the restraint, according to the plaintiff’s best knowledge and belief; and
- (7) why the restraint is illegal.” MCR 3.303\(C\).

H. Issuance of the Writ or Order to Show Cause

“On the filing of the complaint, the court may issue

(a) a writ of habeas corpus directed to the person having custody of the prisoner, or that person’s superior, ordering him or her to bring the prisoner before the court forthwith; or

(b) an order to show cause why the writ should not be issued, unless it appears that the prisoner is not entitled to relief.” MCR 3.303\(D\)\(1\).³

See also MCL 600.4316, which states that “[a]ny court or judge empowered to grant the writ of habeas corpus shall, upon proper application, grant the preliminary writ (or an order to show cause) without delay, unless the party applying therefor is not entitled to the writ[;]” Phillips, 153 Mich App at 561, citing MCR 3.301\(D\)\(1\).

I. Certification of Record

“When proceedings in another court or agency are pertinent to a determination of the issue raised in a habeas corpus action, the court may order the transcript of the record and proceedings certified to the court within a specified time.” MCR 3.303\(E\). “The order must identify the records to be certified with sufficient specificity to allow them to be located.” Id.

J. Issuance Without Application or Before Filing

“A judge of a court of record, except the probate court, may issue a writ of habeas corpus or order to show cause if

(a) the judge learns that a person within the judge’s jurisdiction is illegally restrained, or

(b) an application is presented to the judge before or after normal court hours.” MCR 3.303\(F\)\(1\).

“If the prisoner is being held on criminal charges, the writ or order may only be issued by a judge of a court authorized to issue a writ of habeas corpus under [MCR 3.303\(A\)\(3\)].” MCR 3.303\(F\)\(2\).

“If a complaint is presented to a judge under [MCR 3.303\(F\)\(1\)\(b\)], it need not be filed with the court before the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus.” MCR 3.303\(F\)\(3\). “The complaint must subsequently be filed with the court whether or not the writ is granted.” Id.

K. Endorsement of Allowance of Writ

“Every writ issued must be endorsed with a certificate of its allowance and the date of the allowance.” MCR 3.303\(G\). “The endorsement must be signed by the judge issuing the writ, or, if the writ is issued by a panel of more than 1 judge, by a judge of the court.” Id.

L. Form of Writ

“A writ of habeas corpus must be substantially in the form approved by the state court administrator.” MCR 3.303\(H\). See MC 203, Writ of Habeas Corpus.

M. Service of Writ

1. Person to Be Served

“The writ or order to show cause must be served on the defendant in the manner prescribed in MCR 2.105.” MCR 3.303\(I\)\(1\). “If the defendant cannot be found, or if the defendant does not have the prisoner in custody, the writ or order to show cause may be served on anyone having the prisoner in custody or that person’s superior, in the manner and with the same effect as if that person had been made a defendant in the action.” Id.

2. Tender of Fees

“If the Attorney General or a prosecuting attorney brings the action, or if a judge issues the writ on his or her own initiative, there is no fee.” MCR 3.303\(I\)\(2\). “In other actions, to make the service of a writ of habeas corpus effective, the person making service must give the fee provided by law or [MCR 3.303] to the person having custody of the prisoner or to that person’s superior.” MCR 3.303\(I\)\(2\).

“If the prisoner is in the custody of a sheriff, coroner, constable, or marshal, the fee is that allowed by law to a sheriff for bringing up a prisoner.” MCR 3.303\(I\)\(2\).

“If the prisoner is in the custody of another person, the fee is that, if any, allowed by the court issuing the writ, not exceeding the fee allowed by law to a sheriff for similar services.” MCR 3.303\(I\)\(2\).

N. Sufficiency of Writ

“The writ or order to show cause may not be disobeyed because of a defect in form.” MCR 3.303\(J\). “The writ or order to show cause is sufficient if the prisoner is designated by name, if known, or by a description sufficient to permit identification.” Id. “The writ or order may designate the person to whom it is directed as the person having custody of the prisoner.” Id. “Anyone served with the writ or order is deemed the person to whom it is directed and is considered a defendant in the action.” Id.

O. Time for Answer and Hearing

“If the writ is to be answered and the hearing held on a specified day and hour, the answer must be made and the prisoner produced at the time and place specified in the writ.” MCR 3.303\(K\)\(1\).

“If an order to show cause is issued, it must be answered as provided in [MCR 3.303\(N\)], and the hearing must be held at the time and place specified in the order.” MCR 3.303\(K\)\(2\).

P. Notice of Hearing Before Discharge

“When the answer states that the prisoner is in custody on process under which another person has an interest in continuing the custody, an order of discharge may not be issued unless the interested person or that person’s attorney has had at least 4 days’ notice of the time and place of the hearing.” MCR 3.303\(L\)\(1\).

“When the answer states that the prisoner is detained on a criminal charge, the prisoner may not be discharged until sufficient notice of the time and place of the hearing is given to the prosecuting attorney of the county within which the prisoner is detained or, if there is no prosecuting attorney within the county, to the Attorney General.” MCR 3.303\(L\)\(2\).

Q. Custody of Child

“A complaint seeking a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into a child’s custody must be presented to the judicial circuit for the county in which the child resides or is found.” MCR 3.303\(M\)\(1\).

“If the action for habeas corpus is brought by a parent, foster-parent, or other relative of the child, to obtain custody of a child under the age of 16 years from a parent, foster-parent, or other relative of the child, issuance of the writ of habeas corpus is not mandatory.” MCL 600.4319. Rather, “[a]n order to show cause, not a writ of habeas corpus, must be issued initially if the action is brought by a parent, foster parent, or other relative of the child, to obtain custody of a child under the age of 16 years from a parent, foster parent, or other relative of the child.” MCR 3.303\(M\)\(2\). “The court may direct the [F]riend of the [C]ourt to investigate the circumstances of the child’s custody.” Id.

R. Answer

“The answer must state the reason why the prisoner is detained and a copy of the written authority for such detention, if any, must be attached.” Phillips, 153 Mich App at 561-562, citing MCR 3.303\(N\)\(1\)\(a\) and MCR 3.303\(N\)\(2\).

1. Contents of Answer

“The defendant or person served must obey the writ or order to show cause or show good cause for not doing so, and must answer the writ or order to show cause within the time allowed.” MCR 3.303\(N\)\(1\). “Failure to file an answer is contempt.”⁴ Id. “The answer must state plainly and unequivocally

(a) whether the defendant then has, or at any time has had, the prisoner under his or her control and, if so, the reason; and

(b) if the prisoner has been transferred, to whom, when the transfer was made, and the reason or authority for the transfer.” MCR 3.303\(N\)\(1\).

2. Exhibits

“If the prisoner is detained because of a writ, warrant, or other written authority, a copy must be attached to the answer as an exhibit, and the original must be produced at the hearing.” MCR 3.303\(N\)\(2\). “If an order under [MCR 3.303\(E\)] requires it, the answer must be accompanied by the certified transcript of the record and proceedings.” MCR 3.303\(N\)\(2\).

3. Verification

“The answer must be signed by the person answering, and, except when the person is a sworn public officer and answers in his or her official capacity, it must be verified by oath.” MCR 3.303\(N\)\(3\).

⁴ For information on contempt, see the Michigan Judicial Institute’s Contempt of Court Benchbook and quick reference materials (i.e. checklists, flowcharts, and tables).

S. Answer May Be Controverted

“In a reply or at a hearing, the plaintiff or the prisoner may controvert the answer under oath, to show either that the restraint is unlawful or that the prisoner is entitled to discharge.” MCR 3.303\(O\).

4.4 Person Served Has Duty to Bring Body of Prisoner Except in Circumstances of Sickness or Infirmary

“If a writ of habeas corpus is issued, the person on whom it is served shall bring the body of the person in his [or her] custody according to the command of the writ, except as provided in [\[MCL 600.4328\]](#).” MCL 600.4325. “If, from the sickness or infirmity of the prisoner directed to be produced by any writ of habeas corpus, the prisoner cannot, without danger, be brought before the court or judge, the party having custody of the prisoner may state that fact in his [or her] answer.” MCL 600.4328. “The court or judge, if satisfied of the truth of the allegation, and if the answer is otherwise sufficient, shall proceed to dispose of the matter on the record.” Id.

4.5 Arrest

MCL 600.4331 “force[s] a nonresponding defendant to answer the writ . . . by arresting him [or her] and holding him [or her] in close custody until he [or she] complies with the writ.” Phillips v Warden, State Prison of Southern Mich, 153 Mich App 557, 564 (1986).

A. Refusal or Neglect to Obey

“If the person upon whom the writ of habeas corpus was duly served refuses or neglects to obey the writ without sufficient excuse, the court or judge before whom the writ was to be answered, upon due proof of the service thereof, shall direct the arrest of such person.” MCL 600.4331\(1\).

B. Arrest and Close Custody

“The sheriff of any county within this state, or other officer, who is directed to make the arrest, shall apprehend such person, and bring him [or her] before the court or judge.” MCL 600.4331\(2\). “The person shall be committed to close custody in the jail of the county in which the court or judge is, without being allowed the liberties thereof, until the person complies with the writ.” Id.

C. Proceeding Against Sheriff

“If the person ordered arrested is the sheriff of any county, the order may be directed to any coroner or other person, to be designated therein, who has thereby full power to arrest the sheriff.” MCL 600.4331\(3\). “Such sheriff upon being brought up may be committed to the jail of any county other than his [or her] own.” Id.

D. Prisoner to be Brought Before Court

“The person directed to make the arrest shall also bring the prisoner named in the writ of habeas corpus before the court or judge which issued the writ.” MCL 600.4331\(4\).

E. Power of County

“In making the arrest the sheriff or other person so directed may call to his [or her] aid the power of the county as in other cases.” MCL 600.4331\(5\).

F. Arrest in Support of Writ

“If any person attempts wrongfully to carry the prisoner out of the county or state after service of a writ of habeas corpus or order to show cause, the person serving the writ or order to show cause, or other officer, shall arrest the person so resisting, and bring him [or her] together with the prisoner before the court or judge issuing the writ or order to show cause.” MCL 600.4334.

4.6 Issuance of Warrant for Prisoner in Lieu of Habeas Corpus

“On the showing required by MCL 600.4337, the court may issue a warrant in lieu of habeas corpus.” MCR 3.303\(D\)\(2\).

“Whenever it appears by satisfactory proof, that anyone is held in illegal confinement or custody, and that there is good reason to believe that he [or she] will be carried out of the state, or suffer some irreparable injury, before he [or she] can be relieved by the issuing of a writ of habeas corpus, any court or judge authorized to issue such writs may issue a warrant, reciting the facts, and directed to any sheriff, constable or other person, and commanding the officer or person to take the prisoner, and forthwith to bring him [or her] before the court or judge, to be dealt with according to law.” MCL 600.4337.

4.7 Arrest of Person Having Custody of Prisoner

A. Warrant

“When the proof mentioned in [MCL 600.4337⁵] is sufficient to justify an arrest of the person having the prisoner in his [or her] custody, as for a criminal offense committed in the taking or detaining of the prisoner, the warrant shall also contain an order for the arrest of such person for that offense.” MCL 600.4340.

B. Execution of Warrant

“Any officer or person to whom the warrant is directed shall execute the warrant by bringing the prisoner therein named, and the person who detains him [or her], if so commanded by the warrant, before the court or judge issuing the warrant.” MCL 600.4343. “The person detaining the prisoner shall make answer as if a writ of habeas corpus had been issued in the first instance.” Id.

C. Procedure

“If the person having the prisoner in his [or her] custody is brought before the court or judge, as for a criminal offense, he [or she] shall be examined, committed, bailed or discharged by the court or judge in the like manner as in other criminal cases of like nature.” MCL 600.4346.

4.8 Prisoner

A. Custody

“The court or judge issuing the writ of habeas corpus may commit the prisoner to the custody of such individual or individuals as the court or judge considers proper.” MCL 600.4349.

B. Discharge

“If no legal cause is shown for the restraint, or for the continuation thereof, the court or judge shall discharge the person restrained from the restraint under which he [or she] is held.” MCL 600.4352(1). See Hinton v Parole Bd, 148 Mich App 235, 244 (1986) (“[i]f a legal basis for detention is lacking, a judge must order the release of the detainee from confinement”).

⁵See Section 4.6 for information on the proof mentioned in MCL 600.4337.

1. Enforcement of Order

“Obedience to any order for the discharge of any prisoner may be enforced by the court or judge granting such order, by arrest in the same manner as is herein provided for disobedience to a writ of habeas corpus, and with like effect in all respects.” MCL 600.4352\(2\). “The person guilty of disobedience to an order for the discharge of any prisoner is liable to the party aggrieved in the sum of $1,000.00 damages, in addition to any special damages the party may have sustained.” Id.

2. Obedience by Sheriff or Other Custodian

“No sheriff or other officer is liable to any civil action for obeying any such order of discharge.” MCL 600.4352\(3\).

C. Remanding

“The court or judge shall forthwith remand the person restrained if the person restrained is detained in custody, either:

- (1) By virtue of process issued by any court or judge of the United States, in a case where such court or judge has exclusive jurisdiction; or
- (2) By virtue of the final judgment or decree of any competent court of civil or criminal jurisdiction, or of any execution issued upon such judgment or decree; or
- (3) For any contempt specially and plainly charged in the commitment by some court, officer or body having authority to commit for the contempt so charged; and
- (4) The time during which such party may be legally detained has not expired.” MCL 600.4355.

D. Discharge of Prisoner in Civil Cases

“If the prisoner is in custody by virtue of civil process from any court legally constituted, or issued by any officer in the course of judicial proceedings before him [or her], authorized by law, the prisoner shall be discharged only if 1 of the following situations exists:

- (1) Where the jurisdiction of the court or officer has been exceeded, either as to matter, place, sum or person;
- (2) Where, though the original imprisonment was lawful, the party is entitled to be discharged;

- (3) Where the process is void;
- (4) Where the process, though in proper form, has been issued in a case not allowed by law;
- (5) Where the person having the custody of the prisoner is not the person empowered by law to detain him [or her]; or
- (6) Where the process is not authorized by any judgment, order or decree of any court, nor by any provision of law.” MCL 600.4358.

E. When Bailed

“Because a habeas corpus action must be decided promptly with no more than the brief delay provided by [MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(2\)⁶], release of a prisoner on bail will not normally be considered until after determination that legal cause exists for the detention.” MCR 3.303\(P\). “Thereafter, if the prisoner is entitled to bail, the court issuing the writ or order may set bail.” Id.

F. Remanding or Commitment of Prisoner

“If the prisoner is not entitled to his [or her] discharge, and is not bailed, the court or judge shall place him [or her] under the restraint from which he [or she] was taken, if the person under whose restraint he [or she] was is legally entitled thereto.” MCL 600.4361. “If not so entitled, the court or judge shall commit the prisoner to the custody of such officer or person as by law is entitled thereto.” Id.

G. Recommitment of Prisoner

1. Causes

“No person who has been discharged by the order of any court or judge upon habeas corpus shall be again restrained for the same cause.” MCL 600.4364. “It is not the same cause if:

- (1) He [or she] was discharged from a commitment on a criminal charge, and is afterwards committed for the same offense, by the legal order or process of the court wherein he [or she] is bound by recognizance to appear, or in which he [or she] is indicted or convicted for the same offense; or ⁶See Section 4.10 for information on the brief delay provided by MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(2\).

(2) After a discharge for defect of proof, or for any material defect in the commitment, in a criminal case, the prisoner is again arrested on sufficient proof, and committed by legal process for the same offense; or

(3) In a civil suit the party was discharged for any illegality in the judgment or process and is afterwards imprisoned by legal process for the same cause of action; or

(4) In any civil suit in which process may lawfully issue against the body, he [or she] was discharged from commitment on original process, and is afterwards committed on execution in the same cause, or on original process in any other suit, after such first suit was discontinued.” Id.

“MCL 600.4364 is simply a codification of the common law rule that an order of discharge on habeas corpus is res judicata of all issues and facts necessarily involved in determining that [a] plaintiff was illegally held in custody, until reversed in some proper proceeding.” Phillips v Warden, State Prison of Southern Mich, 153 Mich App 557, 564 n 3 (1986).

2. Violation/Penalty

“If any person knowingly:

(1) violates [MCL 600.4364], or

(2) causes [MCL 600.4364] to be violated, or

(3) aids or assists in the violation of [MCL 600.4364]; he [or she] is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is liable to the party aggrieved in the sum of $1,000.00 damages.” MCL 600.4367.

“Every person convicted of . . . [MCL 600.4367] shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000.00, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding 6 months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.” MCL 600.4376.

H. Concealment

“Any one having under his [or her] power any person who would be entitled to a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of his [or her] detention, or for whose relief any such writ, warrant, or order to show cause was issued, who shall, with intent to elude the service of the writ, or to avoid the effect thereof, place any such prisoner under the power of another, or conceal him [or her], or change the place of his [or her] confinement, is guilty of a misdemeanor.” MCL 600.4370.

“Every person who knowingly aids or assists in the violation of [MCL 600.4370] is guilty of a misdemeanor.” MCL 600.4373.

“Every person convicted of . . . [MCL 600.4370 or MCL 600.4373] shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000.00, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding 6 months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.” MCL 600.4376.

4.9 Refusal to Deliver Copy of Authority for Detention of Prisoner

“Any officer or other person who refuses or neglects for 6 hours to deliver a copy of any order, warrant, process or other authority by which he [or she] detains any person, to any one who demands such copy and tenders the lawful fees therefor, is liable to the person so detained in the sum of $200.00 damages.” MCL 600.4379.

4.10 Hearing and Judgment

“The court shall proceed promptly to hear the matter in a summary manner and enter judgment.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(1\).

“In response to the writ of habeas corpus or order to show cause, the defendant may request adjournment of the hearing.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(2\).
“Adjournment may be granted only for the brief delay necessary to permit the defendant

(a) to prepare a written answer (unless waived by the plaintiff); or

(b) to present to the court or judge issuing the writ or order testimonial or documentary evidence to establish the cause of detention at the time for answer.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(2\).

“In the defendant’s presence, the court shall inform the prisoner that he or she has the right to an attorney and the right to remain silent.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(3\).

“From the time the prisoner is produced in response to the writ or order until judgment is entered, the judge who issued the writ or order has custody of the prisoner and shall make certain that the prisoner’s full constitutional rights are protected.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(4\).

“The hearing on the return to a writ of habeas corpus or an order to show cause must be recorded verbatim, unless a court reporter or recorder is not available.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(5\). “If the hearing is conducted without a verbatim record being made, as soon as possible the judge shall prepare and certify a narrative written report.” Id. “The original report is part of the official record in the action, and copies must be sent forthwith to the parties or their attorneys.” Id.

“If the prisoner is restrained because of mental disease, the court shall consider the question of the prisoner’s mental condition at the time of the hearing, rather than merely the legality of the original detention.” MCR 3.303\(Q\)\(6\).

4.11 Habeas Corpus to Bring Prisoner to Testify or for Prosecution

A. Applicability of Court Rules

MCR 3.304 is the court rule addressing habeas corpus to bring a prisoner to testify or for prosecution. However, MCR 3.303\(G\) (endorsement of allowance of writ), MCR 3.303\(I\) (service of writ), MCR 3.303\(J\) (sufficiency of writ), and MCR 3.303\(K\)\(1\) (answering and producing prisoner at the hearing) also apply to these proceedings. MCR 3.304\(G\). See Sections 4.3\(K\), 4.3\(M\), 4.3\(N\), and 4.3\(O\), respectively, for information on these court rules.

B. Court’s Authority

“The judges of every court of record have the power to issue a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of bringing before that court, or another court or body authorized to examine witnesses, any prisoner who may be detained in any jail or prison within this state, to be examined as a witness.” MCL 600.4385\(1\).

C. Jurisdiction

“A court of record may issue a writ of habeas corpus directing that a prisoner in a jail or prison in Michigan be brought to testify

(1) on the court’s own initiative; or

(2) on the ex parte motion of a party in an action before a court or an officer or body authorized to examine witnesses.” MCR 3.304\(A\).

“A writ of habeas corpus may also be issued to bring a prisoner to court for prosecution.” MCR 3.304\(A\). “[MCR 3.304\(C\)–MCR 3.304\(G\)] apply to such a writ.” MCR 3.304\(A\).

D. Contents of Motion

“The motion must be verified by the party and must state

- (1) the title and nature of the action in which the testimony of the prisoner is desired; and
- (2) that the testimony of the prisoner is relevant and necessary to the party in that proceeding.” MCR 3.304\(B\).

E. Transfer of Prisoner/Direction to Surrender Custody for Transportation

“The judge may order in the writ that the prisoner be placed in the custody of a designated officer for transportation to the place of examination and return, instead of requiring the person having custody of the prisoner to produce the prisoner at the place of examination.” MCL 600.4385\(2\). See also MCR 3.304\(C\).

F. Form of Writ

“A writ of habeas corpus to produce a prisoner to testify or for prosecution must be substantially in the form approved by the state court administrator.” MCR 3.304\(D\). See MC 203, Writ of Habeas Corpus.

G. Answer and Hearing

“If the prisoner is produced or delivered to the custody of a designated officer as ordered, the person served with the writ need not answer the writ, and a hearing on the writ is unnecessary.” MCR 3.304\(E\).

H. Remand

“When a prisoner is brought on a writ of habeas corpus to testify or for prosecution, the prisoner must be returned to the original custodian after testifying or prosecution.” MCR 3.304\(F\).

I. Liability of Officer for Disobedience to Writ

“Whenever any writ of habeas corpus is issued pursuant to [MCL 600.4385], the officer on whom the writ is served shall obey the writ in the manner and within the time prescribed by statute or court rule.” MCL 600.4387. “Every officer who neglects or refuses so to do, is liable in the sum of $500.00 to:

- (1) the people of this state, if the writ was issued upon the application of the attorney general, or a prosecuting attorney; or
- (2) the party upon whose application the writ was issued.” Id.

4.12 Federal Habeas Corpus

“The Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (AEDPA) requires a prisoner who challenges (in a federal habeas court) a matter ‘adjudicated on the merits in State court’ to show that the relevant state-court ‘decision’ (1) ‘was contrary to, or involved an unreasonable application of, clearly established Federal law,’ or (2) ‘was based on an unreasonable determination of the facts in light of the evidence presented in the State court proceeding.’” Wilson v Sellers, 584 US ___, ___ (2018), quoting 28 USC 2254(d). “Deciding whether a state court’s decision ‘involved’ an unreasonable application of federal law or ‘was based on’ an unreasonable determination of fact requires the federal habeas court to ‘train its attention on the particular reasons—both legal and factual—why state courts rejected a state prisoner’s federal claims,’ and to give appropriate deference to that decision[.]” Wilson, 584 US at ___ (citations omitted). “A state court’s determination that a claim lacks merit precludes federal habeas relief so long as ‘fairminded jurists could disagree’ on the correctness of the state court’s decision.” Harrington v Richter, 562 US 86, 101 (2011), quoting Yarborough v Alvarado, 541 US 652, 664 (2004).

“Clearly established Federal law for purposes of [28 USC 2254(d)] includes only the holdings, as opposed to the dicta, of [the United States Supreme Court’s] decisions.” White v Woodall, 572 US ___, ___ (2014) (citations and quotations omitted). “And an unreasonable application of those holdings must be objectively unreasonable, not merely wrong; even clear error will not suffice.” Id. at ___ (citations and quotations omitted). “As a condition for obtaining habeas corpus from a federal court, a state prisoner must show that the state court’s ruling on the claim being presented in federal court was so lacking in justification that there was an error well understood and comprehended in existing law beyond any possibility for fairminded disagreement.” Harrington, 562 US at 103. AEDPA’s requirements reflect a “presumption that state courts know and follow the law.” Woodford v Visciotti, 537 US 19, 24 (2002). “Section 2254(d) reflects the view that habeas corpus is a guard against extreme malfunctions in the state criminal justice systems, not a substitute for ordinary error correction through appeal.” Harrington, 562 US at 102-103 (citation and quotation omitted).
